America's Message

(UNISON DOUBLE CHORUS)

NOTE. The tune of God Save the King, familiarly known in this country as America, is generally believed to have been composed by Henry Carey, an Englishman, and it was publicly sung by him for the first time in 1740. It was afterwards employed as a patriotic air by several European nations and it is now the National Anthem of Great Britain. The tune was a great favorite with Weber and also with Beethoven.

When the Rev. Samuel Francis Smith, in 1832, wrote the words, "My Country, 'tis of Thee" for a Fourth of July celebration, he took them to Dr. Lowell Mason of Boston, to find a musical setting. Dr. Mason discovered the melody in a book of miscellaneous songs, and found that it fitted Dr. Smith's verses. It is not believed that Lowell Mason or Dr. Smith knew at the time that this was the National air of Great Britain. The tune was not sung to any extent in this country until the period of the Civil War, 1861-1865, when a great outburst of national sentiment brought about the general use of this anthem.

In view of the sentiment underlying America's Message, and the international appeal of Carey's music, the concerted rendition of these two melodies seems especially appropriate.

Note to Conductor: In the third and fourth stanzas it is absolutely necessary that the alto and bass parts be sufficiently subdued to allow the tenor melodies to rise into full prominence. The tenors should sing with full voice.
