INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

To the living descendants of Robert Greene,* who lived in Wales, Mass., in the early settlement of that town, we offer this imperfect sketch of his posterity.

We have prepared it, not for publication, but to gather and preserve for the benefit of the family, the perishing fragments that remain to tell us of a worthy and honored ancestry.

It is meet that we who are now reaping a rich harvest of benefits from the life-long trials of our ancestors, should not only manifest a grateful recognition of their toils and struggles, but endeavor to make a record of such facts, that shall go down to posterity.

It is to be hoped that this feeble effort will bring together a circle of relatives and friends whom time and distance has estranged, if not rendered ignorant of each other's existence. To further this purpose, we call upon all interested parties to collect and communicate any information which will enable us to supply defects, fill vacancies, and thereby render as complete as possible, a work which, at best, is scarcely begun.

*NOTE—The use of the final E in spelling the name Greene, was used in the records, and as it is in conformity with the ancient orthography we think it correct; but it seems to have been used or omitted in this country to suit the taste of the individual.

In searching the records and studying the history of the early settlement of this country, we find that there were several families by the name of Greene, who came to this country from England between the years 1628 and 1645. What relation these families sustained to each other, we have not been able to ascertain, but their descendants have become numerous, and may be found in every State of the Union, and in almost every quarter of the globe.

Bartholomew Greene came with his wife and children to America in 1630, and settled in Cambridge. Rev. Henry Greene was the first minister of Reading, Mass., being ordained Nov. 5, 1645. He was very energetic and did so much for the parish, that he is spoken of in history as the "Father of Reading."

John Greene removed from Salem, Mass., to Providence, R. I., in 1636. He was the ancestor of Gen. Nathaniel Greene of Revolutionary fame.

John Greene, a ruling elder of the church in Charlestown, came to this country in 1632.

Nathaniel Greene lived in Cambridge in 1645.

Percival Greene and his wife came to this country in 1635, and settled in Cambridge, Mass.

Henry Greene and Thomas Greene lived in Ipswich, Mass., in 1648.

Another Thomas Greene lived in Roxbury in 1648, and is undoubtedly the person who by the record embarked in the "Hopewell" for New England, April 2, 1635. The name of his mother "Widow Greene" appears upon the Roxbury church records.

A Thomas Greene came from London, England, in the "Paull," Leonard Betts, master, bound for Virginia, July 6, 1635.

Another Thomas Greene came from London, England, in the ship "Speedwell," Joseph Chapell, master.

William Greene, born in Devonshire, England, Oct. 16, 1591, came to this country and settled in Woburn, Mass. There were two by the name of Thomas Greene living in Malden at the same time. One of them left a will dated February 25, 1673, approved June 16 following; a record of which is found in Middlesex Probate, book 4, folio 110. In this will his wife and several children are mentioned.

The second and third generations of these families settled quite extensively in the vicinity of Boston and central Massachusetts, especially in the towns of Worcester, Leicester and Brimfield.

The records of those times were not as full and perfect as are the records of the present day. It is easy to see the difficulties that may arise when the records are imperfect, and when an entire generation is omitted, it is extremely difficult to trace the connection, and keep distinct the members of each family.

The records of the town of Wales show that the Greens were quite numerous and conspicuous in the settlement and early history of the town; that Thomas Greene, son of Thomas Greene of Brimfield, came to Wales in 1737, and that Robert Greene, the subject of this history, supposed to be brother of Thomas, settled in Wales in 1743; but the record does not give the name or place of residence of his ancestors, and we have not as yet been able to supply the missing link.

Therefore in this history we shall designate Robert Greene as the first generation, and the figure following any name will indicate the number of generations such person is removed from the said Robert Greene.

REUBEN GREENE.

34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., 1885.

FIRST GENERATION.

ROBERT GREENE located in Wales, Mass., in 1743. Wales was then a part of Brimfield. The original boundaries of Brimfield embraced what is now known as Holland, Wales, Monson, and part of Palmer and Warren.

In our introductory remarks we noticed several families by the name of Greene who came from England in the time of the early settlement of this country, but we have not been able to connect with any degree of certainty this, our paternal grandfather, with any of them.

We supposed that Robert Greene was a brother of Thomas Greene, who removed from Brimfield to Wales in 1737, but we do not find such proof upon the records.

Dr. Thomas Greene was one of the early settlers of Brimfield. Thomas Greene, jr., of Brimfield, married Elizabeth Greene, of Stafford, Ct., March 29, 1744. It has been supposed by some that Robert Greene was a brother of Elizabeth, but her descendants, now quite numerous in Stafford and the adjoining towns, do not know of such relationship.

Thus far we have failed to find any authentic account of Robert Greene previous to his settling in Wales in 1743. He must therefore be considered the first in ancestral line in our branch of the Greene family of which we have any definite knowledge.

The records show that Robert Greene came to Wales in 1743, that he married Sarah Rogers (sister to Ichabod and Dea. Joel Rogers), Oct. 11, 1744, that he established his home in the west part of Wales, that here he had three children born. For several years after this we find no account of him in Wales. But in the town of Tolland, Ct., we find recorded the death of a child of Robert and Sarah Greene, and of the birth of four more children. Subsequently we find upon the records of Wales the birth of two more children of Robert and Sarah Greene. We must therefore accept the conclusion that Robert Greene, after marrying and residing in Wales for a time, removed to Tolland, Ct., where he remained for several years, and then returned to his old homestead in Wales, where he had two other children born, and where he finally died.

A few years ago, we visited the locality of this old homestead in company with Daniel Gardner Greene, of Monson, from whom we obtained much valuable information. The farm was partly in Monson and partly in Wales, the line running through the house, and it is said that at one time there was a lively contest to decide in which of the towns the family lived. The old house disappeared long ago, but there remains abundant evidence of its location.

The children of Robert and Sarah were :

Ruth, born in Wales, Mass., Feb. 14, 1745.

Joel, born in Wales, Mass., May 5, 1748.

Lydia, born in Wales, Mass., March 6, 1750; died in Tolland, Ct., July 5, 1851.

Lydia, born in Tolland, Ct., July 28, 1751.

Amos, born in Tolland, Ct., June 22, 1753.

Nathan, born in Tolland, Ct., March 28, 1755.

Eunice, born in Tolland, Ct., Feb. 14, 1757; died in Wales, 1822.

Solmon, born in Wales, Mass., March 12, 1766.

Reuben, born in Wales, Mass., May 24, 1769.

SECOND GENERATION.

NATHAN GREENE², son of Robert Greene, was born in Tolland, Ct., March 28, 1755. A few years after his birth his parents removed with him to the old homestead in Wales, Mass.

Sarah Shields was born Nov. 24, 1758. Her father died when she was very young, and she lived with Rev. Mr. Stebbins of Monson.

Nathan and Sarah married May 10, 1780, and removed to Whitingham,* Vermont. They were obliged to travel with their entire outfit, on foot, or on horseback, from Greenfield, Mass., a distance of twenty miles, guided only by blazed trees. This must have been a romantic wedding tour for a bride even in that early day, and contrasts very strongly with the custom of our time. We do not know how much preparation Mr. Greene had previously made for the reception and comfort of his bride in their new home, but he must have been one of the pioneers in the settlement of the town.

He had selected a favorable location about one mile southwest from the centre of the town. Here he had built his log cabin, cleared and cultivated a patch of land, and it

*NOTE.—The town of Whitingham, Vt., where Nathan Greene, one branch of the Greene family settled, lies in the southwest corner of Windham county, adjoining the State of Massachusetts on the south, and Bennington county on the west.

The town was chartered March 1, 1770, to Nathaniel Whitingham and his nine associates by the commissioners of King George III.

The surface of the territory is uneven, but not as hilly as other towns in the vicinity, having level tracts well cultivated. The soil is rich, giving good returns for the labor bestowed upon it.

The Sadawga Pond, which still bears its Indian name, lies near the central part of the town, and is a very picturesque sheet of water. The village near the pond bore the same name as the pond, until the old centre on the hill became nearly depopulated, when it was changed by the government at Washington to Whitingham, and the post-office at the old centre discontinued.

The outlet of Sadawga Pond flows through this thriving village, affording water-power for a gristmill, several sawmills and other manufacturing industries. This beautiful stream of water makes a rapid descent for about two miles, where it joins the Deerfield river which flows through the west part of this town.

is fair to presume that he had prepared as well as he could for the comfort of his permanent home.

At the time of his arrival with his bride in 1780, except the little improvement he had made, his cabin stood in the midst of an unbroken wilderness. There were several other families who settled in different parts of the town about this time, or a little later, among whom were Eliphlet Gaston, John Nelson, Burnijah Lampher, James Angel, Robert Bratten, Nathaniel Davis, and Leonard Pike. The hardships of those early settlers were very great, but these pioneers were men of strong constitutions, determined wills and brave hearts.

Mr. Pike settled about two miles west of the centre of the town. He had twenty-eight children, all living to become men and women. They had a very hard struggle to sustain themselves in this new country. They could not procure shoes or proper clothing, and it is related that the boys used to split from the trees large flat pieces of wood, heat them by the fire, and stand upon them with their bare feet while doing their out-door work. We well remember some of these hardy sons as they frequently called at our father's house while on their way to the centre of the town.

We remember with what wonder and delight we listened to our grandmother while she related to us facts and incidents of her early life in the wilderness. According to her description, their first cabin was very crude, having neither windows nor doors. For several years the howling of the wolf was heard about their humble dwelling, and in the night these ferocious animals often came so near that she could see the glare of their eyeballs reflected by the light of the fire, which was continually kept burning, and which was perhaps the best protection, for wild animals are always afraid of fire.

She would also relate stories about the Indians, who were frequently seen about the Sadawga Pond, which still bears its Indian name, and upon whose southern border lies the farm where their cabin was first built and where they lived and died.

NATHAN GREENE was a man of great physical strength and intellectual development, energetic and ambitious, always ready with a joke, yet of great will power and decision of character, which attributes appear characteristic of the Greene family.

He was quite an extensive land-owner. The records of the town show that he sold in 1785 and during the following years, tracts of land or farms to nine different persons. March 20, 1822, having become old and somewhat infirm, he sold his homestead to David Hosley, jr. (his son-in-law), taking back a life lease of the premises.

Their children were :

Hannah, born Jan. 31, 1781 ; married Lincoln Hall, and removed to Pennsylvania.

Alfred, born in Whitingham, Nov. 21, 1783.

Rhoda, born in Whitingham, July 12, 1785.

Lydia, born in Whitingham, April 17, 1787.

Polly, born in Whitingham, June 22, 1789.

Anna, born in Whitingham, Oct. 21, 1791.

Nathan, jr., born in Whitingham, Dec. 3, 1793.

Twins, born in Whitingham, March 17, 1795.

Daniel, born in Whitingham, Dec. 18, 1796.

Sally, born in Whitingham, March 3, 1799.

Nathan Greene died Sunday, May 6, 1838.

Sarah (Shields) Greene died May, 1843.

THIRD GENERATION.

ALFRED GREENE³ (son of Nathau², son of Robert¹) was born in Whitingham, Vt., Nov. 21, 1783. He was the oldest son of Nathan Greene, one of the first settlers of the town, and was said to have been the first male child born in the town. He purchased of his father the southwest part of the old homestead, and also the Dunnel farm adjoining, where he established his home, and where he lived and died.

He learned the carpenter's trade early in life, and although but seventeen years old, was one of the workmen upon the old meeting-house,* which was erected in the summer and autumn of 1799. He soon became a master-carpenter and builder, and erected most of the principal build-

*NOTE.—This grand old meeting-house was built upon the Common, upon land deeded to the town by Amos Greene, also one of the first settlers, and brother of Robert Greene. The building was not completed till the year 1800. But the town records show that on the 18th day of March, 1799, the town voted to build a meeting-house, and it was to be completed outside, the floors laid and doors hung so that it could be occupied by the first day of December following.

This house was a wonderful structure for the time and place. It was a large and imposing edifice, with wide galleries upon three sides, with an octagon pulpit raised to a level with the galleries, and was capable of seating about two thousand people. It was built by the town, and was occupied by different religious denominations.

After the business left the centre of the town, the old house became neglected and gradually denuded of its finish and beauty, and for twenty-five years remained in a dilapidated condition, though occupied much of the time for town meetings.

The centennial celebration of the settlement of the town was held August 18, 1880. For this grand occasion, the covering was removed from the east side of this old church, and seats extended to a great distance outside the building.

It was estimated that there were present at this celebration more than five thousand people, many of them natives of the town, who had gathered from various parts of the country to do honor to the place of their birth, and the home of their childhood.

At this celebration it was remarked that the inhabitants of the town who have permitted the mutilation of its walls and allowed it to be shorn of its inward beauty—its unique pulpit, its square pews, its extensive galleries, so tastefully decorated, emblematic of New England life two hundred years ago—ought to be indicted for the desecration of the altar of their fathers.

This time-honored landmark is gone, the building having been taken down in 1883 by citizens residing in the vicinity.

ings in the town for the next forty years. He was a man of great force of character, and unusual strength and power of endurance, was always active, and even in old age took a lively interest in business and in the care of his farm. The day before he was taken sick, he walked six miles in the morning to transact business, and worked most of the day in the hay-field with almost the vigor of youth. In the afternoon a sudden shower came upon him, and he was wet before he could reach his house. The shock was too great for one of his age, and typhoid dysentery setting in, he lived but ten days.

March 26, 1810, Alfred Greene married Clarissa Smith, daughter of Asa and Submit (Severance) Smith, born Feb. 26, 1788.

Their children, all born in Whitingham, were :

Eli, born Oct. 9, 1812; died Aug. 21, 1854.

Alfred, jr., born Aug. 7, 1814; died Aug. 28, 1864.

Reuben, born Feb. 18, 1817.

Polly, born Feb. 2, 1819.

Asa, born Oct 6, 1821; died Oct. 1, 1866.

Miranda, born Nov. 11, 1824.

Clarissa, born Dec. 18, 1833.

Alfred Greene died July 19, 1873, aged 90.

Clarissa (Smith) Greene died June 21, 1868, aged 80.

FOURTH GENERATION.

ELI GREENE⁴ (Alfred³, Nathan², Robert¹) was born in Whitingham, Vt., Oct. 9, 1812; he was the oldest son of Alfred Greene, and always lived with his father upon the old homestead. He was a man greatly respected by all; he held various offices, and for several years represented the town in the Vermont Legislature.

He was a great business man, — kept a country store, owned large tracts of timber land, had a sawmill and dealt largely in lumber. He was the contractor and builder of the South Meeting-house in 1840.*

He lived a very active life, and employed a great number of men. In 1847, at the age of 35, his health began to fail, and for several years he had occasional profuse hemorrhage from the lungs which produced complete prostration, but from the effects of which he would so far recover as to be about and oversee his business, which he did till near the time of his death in 1854.

Eli Greene married Elvira Dix, Nov. 5, 1835.

Their children, all born in Whitingham, were :

Elvira Melissa, born Aug. 13, 1838.

Eli Theophas, born April 13, 1840 ; died June 22, 1875.

Newton Reuben, born Nov. 8, 1842 ; died Oct. 28, 1871.

Harriet Augusta, born Jan. 6, 1845 ; died Dec. 29, 1847.

Mary Ellen, born Feb. 4, 1847 ; died April 11, 1848.

Frank Ashton, born Jan. 15, 1849, unmarried, and now living in St. Joseph, Mo.

Eli Greene died Aug. 21, 1854.

*NOTE.—This meeting-house was dedicated Sept. 24, 1840; its location was about one mile southwest from the old meeting-house at the centre of the town, and near where Dr. Waters Gillett now lives, and within six rods of the spot where Nathan Greene (2), our grandfather, built his first log cabin in the early settlement of the town. This meeting-house was contracted for, jointly by the Universalists and the Methodists, a strange combination of religious principles, which may perhaps have worked to some "mysterious use," but as far as the building was concerned it certainly did not prove a very substantial or profitable investment, for after a few years it was abandoned as a place of public worship. For want of proper care the building soon showed signs of decay and was taken down in 1867 by Dr. Waters Gillett, and the material used in the construction of a barn. This may seem a little sacrilegious, but when the building ceased to be used as a place of public worship by the terms of the deed; the land reverted to the former owner. Thus in a period of less than thirty years, a new meeting-house which we saw erected and dedicated to public worship, has had its day and perished from the face of the earth.

Although this unique church, and the grand old church in the centre of the town have disappeared, there are at this date (1885) in the town of Whitingham four churches, two at Sadawga, one Baptist and one Methodist; two at Jacksonville, one Methodist and one Universalist.

ALFRED GREENE, JR.⁴ (Alfred³, Nathan², Robert¹), born in Whitingham, Vt., Aug. 7, 1814. He received his education in the schools of his native town. Nov. 22, 1837, he purchased of David Hosley, jr., the old homestead, agreeing to carry out the conditions of the life-lease held by Nathan Greene.

Grandfather Greene died May 12, 1838. Grandmother was, after a time, induced to relinquish her right in the homestead and live with Alfred Greene her oldest son. The incumbrance on the premises was thereby removed, and the farm was sold to Dr. Waters Gillett, May 13, 1840, and Alfred Greene, jr., went to live with Rufus Carley, his father-in-law, where he remained about two years, assisting on the farm when not otherwise employed. In the 'summer of 1840 he assisted his brother Eli in building the South Meeting-house.

March 24, 1842, he purchased the gristmill at Jacksonville and removed to that flourishing village. In this new enterprise he succeeded in building up a good trade in the mill, and adding a planing-mill and other important works. This mill was burned Aug. 13, 1847, with all its contents. Instead of being disheartened at seeing the result of so many years of hard labor reduced to ashes in an hour, with an energy characteristic of the Greene family, he immediately commenced to rebuild on a more extensive scale, and in less than six months the mill was again in successful operation.

In 1853 he sold the mill and removed to Cambridge, Mass., and engaged in the milk business, where he established a large and extensive traffic. After remaining in Cambridge five years he moved to 13 Sullivan street, Charlestown, now a part of Boston, where he remained until his death Aug. 18, 1864.

Alfred Greene, jr., married Gratia Carley, Aug. 27, 1837.

Their children were :

Sally Luana, born Oct. 29, 1838 ; died July 22, 1864.

Merritt Sanford, born June 18, 1841 ; died May 30, 1860.

Gratia M., born May 24, 1843, died Aug. 23, 1843.

Gratia (Carley) Greene died July 14, 1843, aged 30.

Alfred Greene, jr., married Clerinda Murdock, Jan. 16, 1844.

Their children were :

Benjamin E., born July 7, 1846 ; died Jan. 15, 1848.

Ellery B., born Feb. 11, 1848 ; died Oct. 14, 1850.

Forrest Derrell, born in Whitingham, Vt., May 1, 1852.

Eli Gilmore, born in Cambridge, Mass., July 11, 1854.

Alfred Greene, jr., died Oct. 18, 1864.

REUBEN GREENE, third son of Alfred Greene, was born in Whitingham, Vt., Feb. 18, 1817. The following extract in regard to him is copied from one of the literary journals of Boston :

“ Dr. REUBEN GREENE, the subject of this sketch, comes from a long line of good New England stock, his grandfather being among the first settlers of Whitingham, Vt.

His father designed him for a literary career and directed his education to that end. But the early aspirations of the young man were towards a professional life. Choosing medicine as the field of his future usefulness, after graduating, he spent several years in travels, and the investigation of the various systems of medical practice, and finally located in West Acton, Mass., where he remained five years, enjoying a large and extensive practice. He was held in such high esteem by his fellow townsmen, that he was appointed postmaster and also justice of the peace. But he soon resigned all public offices and devoted his entire energies to the development of his profession. The tendency of the practice of medicine was towards specialties, and becoming convinced that the field of medical practice was too vast to be thoroughly comprehended and developed by any one mind, he decided to confine himself to the study and treatment of chronic diseases, and in order to have a wider scope for his energies and a broader field for his investigations, he removed to Boston in 1850, and established a medical office and laboratories in the heart of the city. Here for more than thirty years he has maintained a reputation as an eminent physician and skilful surgeon, with a wide-spread practice throughout New England.

“During the intervals of relaxation from the arduous duties of his profession, he published several medical and literary works upon diseases and their treatment, intemperance, the use of alcoholic stimulants as medicines, etc., but his best known work is the ‘Problem of Health,’ published in 1876.

“Dr. Greene is still active and efficient in practice, does much for the benefit of society, is a prominent member of the Methodist church, and an active worker in the cause of temperance and the various benevolent enterprises of the day.”

January 1, 1884, at the age of 67, Dr. R. Greene retired from active practice, leaving his extensive business to his two sons, F. E. and J. A. Greene.

Daniel G. Green for the last forty years of his life was a resident of Monson, Mass., and all of his children were born in that town.

The following Obituary Notice is taken from the Palmer Journal of Aug. 1, 1884.

In the death of Mr. Daniel G. Green, which occurred yesterday, Monson loses another citizen who has been prominent in her business and public affairs for the past forty years. Mr. Green was born in Wales, Oct. 17, 1817. One of a large family, on a rocky, sterile farm, he was early obliged to strike out for himself—first as schoolmaster winters, working for a neighbor summers—then longing for a wider field, he engaged in stock and horse driving, and general traffeking in stock-farm and lumber, which he has followed until the present time.

With the growth of Monson Mr. Green has been especially identified; purchasing the land and laying out Green street, named after him, and now one of our most important thoroughfares; purchasing the old church and converting it into a hall and stores; buying the old hotel, rebuilding and enlarging it, thus making one of the handsomest of country hotels. He also built several tenements for rent. Mr. Green was an old-line war Democrat, always esteemed and honored by his party—often their candidate, always polling a vote in excess of his party. He was sent by them to the Legislature in 1875, and was their candidate for State senator two years ago. He has also held the office of selectman, as well as several minor offices in town.

As a business man, Mr. Green was a bold operator, cool, accurate and far-seeing in judgment; one whose opinion carried weight and who was much sought after in town and out on appraisal of property. He has filled a large place in this community, and his familiar face will be missed in this and adjoining towns.
