Scope and Content Note

The papers of Theodore Stark “Ping” Wilkinson (1888-1946) span the years 1893-1962, with the bulk of the material dating from 1920 to 1945. The papers are organized in a Personal File, a Naval File, and Oversize series covering Wilkinson’s entire naval career, especially his duties during World War II as deputy commander, South Pacific area, and commander, Third Amphibious Force.

The Personal File consists largely of letterbooks of correspondence with family members. Correspondence received from his father Ernest Wilkinson and his mother Gulielma Bostick Wilkinson cover Wilkinson’s days at the United States Naval Academy, as do letters from other family members and friends, who sometimes address Wilkinson as Ping, Ted or Bill. In some instances, letters were removed from the volumes prior to their arrival in the Library and are no longer part of this collection. Letters written to his wife, Catherine Harlow Wilkinson, and his mother from 1910 to 1945 recount the tedium of being at sea, the weather, naval maneuvers, social life, family matters, places visited, persons met, and his aide Paulus P. Powell, known as “Ps.” The letters to his wife end in 1940 resuming again in 1945. However, the intervening years from August 1942 to November 1945 are treated in diaries that appear to be transcriptions of Wilkinson's original letters to his wife. Topics include naval operations against the Japanese, conferences with Admiral William Frederick Halsey, interactions with allied military personnel, thoughts on the war, Japanese negotiations for peace and their surrender, his tour of duty in Japan after the surrender, and visits by Richard Evelyn Byrd, Raymond Clapper, H. v. Kaltenborn, Henry Cabot Lodge (1902-1985), Carl Mydans, Ogden R. Reid, and Eleanor Roosevelt. The Personal File is rounded out with photographs, biographical material, awards and certificates, naval insignia, printed matter, and a scrapbook kept during Wilkinson's years at the academy.

The Naval File is largely comprised of correspondence and naval dispatches. The correspondence file kept by Wilkinson includes his personal and naval communications as well as copies of his speeches and radio addresses. Correspondents include Harold E. Barrowclough, Claude Raymond Branch, Frederick H. Brooke, Robert Bostwick Carney, Aubrey Wray Fitch, George Hudson Fort, Roy S. Geiger, O. W. Griswold, William Frederick Halsey, John R. Hodge, Royal E. Ingersoll, Randall Jacobs, James Kendall, Thomas C. Kincaid, Alan Goodrich Kirk, C. H. McMorris, Chester W. Nimitz, Lawrence F. Reifsnider, Richmond Kelly Turner, Nathan F. Twining, A. A. Vandegrift, Edward B. Whitman, Hugh M. Wilkinson, and I. Yegorichev. The dispatches include Wilkinson's copies of naval communications in the Pacific from August 1943 until November 1945 and provide a look into the role of amphibious forces as well as a view of the naval engagements fought at Bougainville Island in the Solomon Islands and at Palau and Leyte Island in the Phillipines. Of interest is the dispatch from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to Admiral William Frederick Halsey requesting the whereabouts of Task Force 34 during the Battle of Leyte Gulf on October 25, 1944. The file is completed by a fleet exercise from 1940 and plans for the invasion of Cape Torokina on Bougainville Island in 1943.

The Oversize consists of awards, certificates, and diplomas as well as maps and photographs removed from the plan and correspondence on the invasion of Cape Torokina.
