Biographical Note

Louis Kaufman was born in Portland, Oregon, on May 10, 1905. He was called a "violinist's violinist" and a "musician's musician" by the New York Times. On the recommendation of violinists Maud Powell and Efrem Zimbalist, Kaufman was sent to New York's Institute of Musical Art (later the Juilliard School of Music) at the age of thirteen to study with the influential violinist Franz Kneisel (1865-1926). He won the coveted Loeb Prize for his performance of Brahms Violin Concerto, Op. 77 (the autograph full score of which was given to the Library of Congress in 1948 by Fritz Kreisler). Kaufman was invited to join the Musical Art Quartet by Sacha Jacobsen.

Annette Leibole, a pianist and fellow student at the Institute, met Kaufman in 1932, and married him a year later. She became his accompanist for more than fifty years. They settled in Los Angeles where Kaufman was active as a studio performer for more than fourteen years in the film industry -- all the while continuing to give recitals locally as well as in New York and throughout the world.

Kaufman was in great demand as a soloist in Hollywood during much of the 1930s and 1940s. His solo violin work can be heard in over 400 Hollywood films including The Merry Widow, Wuthering Heights, Gone with the Wind, Cleopatra, Magnificent Obsession, Show Boat, Modern Times, The Magnificent Ambersons, The Treasure of the Sierra Madre, and For Whom the Bell Tolls.

Kaufman recorded a number of important violin works including Aram Khachaturian's Violin Concerto, the Sonata for Violin and Piano by Aaron Copland (with the composer at the piano), and Vivaldi's Four Seasons (this last recording won him the coveted Grand Prix du Disque in 1950). He premiered several violin concertos including those by Bohuslav Martinů, Lars-Erik Larsson, Henri Sauguet, and two works by Darius Milhaud: the Second Concerto and the Concertino de Printemps. He was a champion of such contemporary composers as Robert Russell Bennett, Samuel Barber, Henri Sauguet, William Grant Still, Ernst Toch and others. Kaufman edited Six Sonatas for Violin by G. P. Telemann and the Sonata Concertante for Violin and Harp by Ludwig Spohr. His publication Warming Up Scales and Arpeggios for Violinists was originally published in 1957, and revised by International Music Publishers in 1993.

In addition to their musical activities, the Kaufmans were very active in the world of art. They collected contemporary artworks (Louis Kaufman had been the first person to buy an oil painting by American abstract expressionist Milton Avery), and participated in numerous art exhibitions by loaning works to museums and to other organizations that sponsored these events. The Kaufmans also donated many art works to Reed College in Portland, Oregon, and other institutions. The Kaufmans played a significant role in bringing public attention to the works of such noted artists as Milton Avery, David Burliuk, Louis Eilshemius, Yves de Saint-Front, and Abraham Walkowitz. Largely due to the promotional efforts and support of Louis and Annette Kaufman, Milton Avery has emerged as an important 20th century American artist.

Louis Kaufman died in Los Angeles in 1994.

Scope and Content Note

Materials from the Louis Kaufman Collection span the period 1925 to 2008. The bulk of the collection contains correspondence to Louis and Annette Kaufman from prominent musical and artistic figures of the 20th century, including Milton Avery, Samuel Barber, Robert Russell Bennett, David Burliuk, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Carlos Chávez, Aaron Copland, David Diamond, Olin Downes, Vernon Duke (Vladimir Dukelsky), Albert Einstein, Gerald Finzi, Morton Gould, Jonathan Griffin, Bernard Herrmann, Erich Wolfgang Korngold, Nikolai Lopatnikoff, Gian Francesco Malipiero, Bohuslav Martinů, Darius Milhaud, Dimitri Mitropoulos, Walter Piston, Quincy Porter, Francis Poulenc, George Rochberg, Miklós Rózsa, Henri Sauguet, William Grant Still, Ernst Toch, Alice B. Toklas, and Ralph Vaughan Williams. The correspondence also reflects the Kaufmans' involvement with art collecting and lending to various art galleries and museums, as well as their philanthropic activities with important artists.

The subject files relate to individuals or organizations of personal or professional interest to Louis and Annette Kaufman. The programs contain printed concert programs for performances by Louis and Annette Kaufman, and for concerts they attended. Nineteen scrapbooks compiled by the Kaufmans document their professional music activities. The photographs include publicity shots and candid photographs of Louis and Annette Kaufman, and photographs of their friends and colleagues from the music world. The collection also includes publicity posters, an award, and a bronze bust of Ernst Toch.
