Bing Toys

Mechanical Toys That Are Built by Engineers

To the smallest detail, every Bing Mechanical Toy is the product of an expert engineer. They are designed from real railroad trains, ocean steamships, and actual machinery—marvels of accuracy and fidelity to life.

The Bing Miniature Railway Systems, complete with stations and signals electrically operated, afford no end of instruction to the youth of an inquiring turn of mind. Bing motion picture Machines are practical, and while away many dull hours, because they use the standard educational reels produced by the big film companies.

For the boy with creative genius there are many happy, profitable hours in Bing's Constructor, the new educational toy that permits him to construct engineering and architectural works from life—anything from a chair to a draw-bridge.

Bing Toys are all of the highest grade workmanship and materials—durable, practical, yet moderate in price, and are kept in repair free for a reasonable time.

If you would make some boy happy take him to see the Bing display at a store near you—and remember the name Bing in making your Xmas purchases. You can instantly recognize Bing Toys by the famous trademark always affixed somewhere to the piece.

Bing toys are sold at all good Toy and Department Stores. Ask for a Bing Catalogue.

IMPERIAL WATER-PROOF NAIL-POLISH

A CUTICLE FOOD

Three essentials combined: (1) an absolutely water-proof nail polish; (2) a healing cuticle salve; (3) a polish that requires no buffing, making a complete manicure set in compact form.

After a few applications cuticle can be pressed back, revealing the desired "half-mooned" so indispensable to well kept hands, eliminating forever the commonly called hangnails. The more the hands are washed the more the lustre is increased.

Send 25c. in stamps for sample, one year's supply. Also in STERILIZED SILVER DEPOSIT JARS, as illustrated, (an adornment to any dressing table) containing twice the amount of polish, 90c.
