

the New York Youngsters of the 50,000 in the Church
the United Boys' Brigade.

Company A. Signal Corps, of Grace Reformed Church, Brooklyn, has a portable field wireless outfit and sends messages regularly to Co. E, Signal Corps, at Lynbrook, L. I.

Company C. Second Inf., Beecher Memorial Church, Brooklyn, in close order drill at Camp Wagg, Malverne, L. I., commanded by Captain A. Dietsch. In the United Boys' Brigade of Greater New York there are about 4,000 infantrymen.

in their dog tent at Camp Wagg, Malverne, L. I.

Evening parade at Camp Wagg, Malverne, L. I. Two hundred United Boys' Brigade youngsters were in line
for this ceremony each evening.

Battery D. Field Artillery, St. Bartholomew's Church, Brooklyn, in firing drill, under command of Maj. Franklin Everdell, at Camp Wagg, Malverne, L. I.

Company A. Signal Corps, Grace Reformed Church, Brooklyn, at signal practice at camp Wagg, Malverne, L. I.

"Suppe, Suppe, Suppe," at Camp Wagg, Malverne, L. I. For thirty cents a day the United Boys' Brigade campers had as much as they could eat.