

(Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)

REMARKABLE PHOTOGRAPH OF BRITISH SOLDIERS IN FRENCH UNIFORMS LIVING IN THE GERMAN EMPEROR'S CASTLE ON THE ISLAND OF CORFU.

Formerly of the Crew of the British Merchant Ship Lesbian, Sunk by an Austrian Submarine, They Were Set Adrift in an Open Boat After the Loss of Their Vessel, and Were Finally Washed Ashore at Corfu, Having Been at the Mercy of the Sea in an Open Boat Twelve Days and Twelve Nights. The French Governor of the Island, General Bauman, at Once Gave the Men Such Dry Clothing as He Had, That Is, French Uniforms, and Sent Them to the Kaiser's Palace, Now Used as a War Hospital, for Recuperation.

FRENCH OFFICER, IN PARIS ON FURLOUGH, AND HIS WIFE CARRYING HOME THEIR PORTION OF COAL, A TWENTY-POUND SACK. Every One in Paris, Rich and Poor Alike, Now Carrying His Packages.

DAILY SCENE BEFORE THE PARIS OPERA HOUSE, NOW USED AS A COAL DEPOT, BEFORE WHICH THERE IS, DURING THE HOURS OF DISTRIBUTION, AN UNBROKEN STREAM OF PEOPLE OF ALL CLASSES AWAITING THEIR ALLOTMENT OF FUEL, REPORTED EXTREMELY SCARCE AND SELLING AT $50 AND MORE A TON.

A Woman on the Steps Can Be Seen Stooping to Pick Up a Tiny Lump Dropped by a Person Already Supplied.

(Photo © International Film Service.)

"BAD NEWS"—A French Soldier Consoling with a Friend Leaving a Paris War Hospital.

FIELD MARSHAL AND MME. JEFFRE WALKING IN THE BOIS DE BOULOGNE, FOLLOWED BY A GUARD. (Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)

FRENCH GIRL DECORATING WITH MISTLETOE FOR "GOOD LUCK" A GUN IN OPERATION IN HER HOME VILLAGE NEAR THE FRONT.

(Photos © International Film Service.)