

AMERICAN MOTOR CYCLIST, WITH FULL EQUIPMENT, GOING FORWARD ALONG A LORRAINE HIGHWAY.
(© International Film Service.)

MAJOR GENERAL CLARENCE R. EDWARDS, Commander of the Twenty-sixth, or New England, Division, in a Front-Line Trench with the French Commander, General Valdant Juvencort.
(© International Film Service.)

AMERICAN MOTOR TRUCKS ON THE LORRAINE FRONT BIVOUAC FOR THE NIGHT ALONG THE HIGHWAY, HEAVILY SCREENED AGAINST ENEMY AIRMEN.
(© International Film Service.)

REMARKABLE PHOTOGRAPH OF A GERMAN MILITARY OBSERVER, With Parachute Attached to His Body, Leaping From the Basket of His Captive Balloon After the Gas Bag Had Been Set on Fire by British Airmen, One of Whom was Evidently Within a Few Yards of the Trapped Teuton.
(© Central News Service.)

ENGLISH GIRL IN A BRITISH MUNITIONS PLANT FEEDING AN AUTOMATIC STOKER.
(© Kadel & Herbert.)

ANCIENT BRIDGE, UNITING TWO SECTIONS OF A QUAIN TOWN ASTRIDE THE VESLE ON THE AMERICAN FRONT IN FRANCE, DESTROYED BY FLEEING GERMANS.
(© International Film Service.)

BRITISH CAVALRY, MOVING FORWARD TO JOIN IN THE PURSUIT OF THE RETREATING GERMANS, PASSING BY WHAT REMAINS OF THE ONCE FAMOUS AND BEAUTIFUL ALBERT CATHEDRAL.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)