The Affair at the Biltmore

ON Sunday Afternoon, October 8th, the Music Room of the Biltmore held a distinguished audience of musicians, critics, and musical connoisseurs, who had assembled to hear Leopold Godowsky play—and to marvel at the perfect reproduction of his playing on the Knabe-Ampico.

Immediately after the conclusion of four of the selections played by Mr. Godowsky, the Knabe-Ampico reproduced the same numbers from records he had made for it. So perfect was the reproduction—so marvelous the fidelity of the replica to the performance of Mr. Godowsky, that the audience was first amazed—then moved to the most enthusiastic applause.

The introduction by Mr. Victor Wittgenstein, one of the brilliant younger pianists, had prepared the audience for a result that had hardly been dreamed possible by any piano of the player type, as well as the willingness of Mr. Godowsky to lend his art to the proving of the Ampico. Yet the perfection of the performance astounded every hearer. Here, indeed, was musical perfection—perfection that stood the acid test, as no other instrument had ever dared apply it.

In operating the Knabe-Ampico no pumping or personal effort is required, and, in addition to reproducing the playing of the world's greatest pianists, it may be played by hand as the ordinary piano, or with any standard 88-note roll, as the player. The Ampico ranges in prices from the Stoddard-Ampico at $750 to the Knabe-Ampico Grand at $1,950.

You are cordially invited to attend a demonstration of the Knabe-Ampico in the Ampico Studio.

GODOWSKY VERSUS GODOWSKY'S RECORD

Once upon a time the great musician held that music could not exist where the artist himself did not actually produce the notes, and the player piano and phonograph called forth his silent scorn. So, also, not so long before that, the painter called the photograph humbug and the work of the devil, sir!

The affair at the Biltmore held last Sunday would have been a scandal five years ago. For fancy, that great pianist Leopold Godowsky actually permitted a music roll record of his renditions to be heard on the Ampico immediately after he personally had performed them. And the audience compared notes!

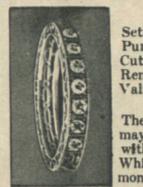

Indeed, as remarkable as the experiment itself is the extraordinary success achieved by the almost human instrument.
