LAUN-DRY-ETTE ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE. Made by the Home Specialty Mfg. Co., Cleveland, Ohio. At last! a machine that washes, rinses, blues and wrings the clothes, doing everything inside its own tub, without a separate wringer and with no necessity to lift or handle the clothes. This picture is conveniently made transparent so that the inner workings of the machine are revealed to the inquiring multitude, but really it does good by stealth inside its bright copper tub. The perforated metal basket does the trick. At the bottom of the tub, revolving under the plunging vacuum washing bells, it washes, rinses and blues at command. Then it is hoisted to the top and the clothes are first drained and then wrung by centrifugal force in the whirling basket. Price $95.

HOTPOINT ELECTRIC RANGE. Made by the Hotpoint Electric Heating Co., Chicago and New York. This is one of a large family of Hotpoint ranges, ranging from this modern cabinet type to the modest little stove shown on the Institute page of this issue. It is an established fact that nothing can be more cleanly, convenient and generally efficient than a good electric range. The only trouble is that in places where the electric current costs real money, to own one adds considerably to the penalty paid for living. Its presence in the house, however, is a boon and a blessing. Prices: $50.50 to $102.50.

WESTINGHOUSE BELL RINGING TRANSFORMER. Made by the Westinghouse Electric and Mfg. Co., East Pittsburgh, Penn. No more silent bells because the batteries have run out! Any household which rents electric current and owns a bell ringing transformer can rest secure in the knowledge that the voices of its bells are as immortal as the chimes of Notre Dame. Once installed, this comforting device needs no further attention. Only costs a few cents a month to operate. Price $3.

BISSELL SUCTION CLEANER. Made by the Bissell Motor Co., Toledo, Ohio, and New York. This is a powerful machine, semi-portable, and designed to be used once or twice a week for the thorough cleaning of a large establishment where rugs and draperies are many and heavy. The cleaning is done by means of a hose or an extension fibre tube, to which are attached the proper appliances for cleaning walls, furniture, book-cases, radiators, mouldings, etc., and for the performance of any little extra jobs. Price of machine with attachments, $67.50 to $100.

WESTERN ELECTRIC SEWING MACHINE. Made by Western Electric Co., 195 Broadway, New York. Just a good old familiar sewing machine—only you don't have to run it at the expense of leg and back muscles! Just press the pedal that starts the motor and it will travel indefinitely at any speed you choose, regulated according to the pressure of your foot. Price $35.
