

MELTING OF MOLLY"

at the Broadhurst

Three little maids who help make the show a winner.

Charles Purcell in the merry midst of a bevy of some of the prettiest girls on Broadway.

Edgar Norton and Vera Roehm enter into a little friendly competition.

Gloria Goodwin and Ted Lorraine prove that the dance is still the thing.

(Above) Isabelle Lowe and Charles Purcell in one of the tense dramatic moments.

