The exterior of the house on the Place de Broglie, Strasbourg, where Rouget de L'Isle first sang the "Marseillaise," giving to the world its finest and most inspiring national hymn. Another beloved French memorial restored to France. Keystone View

The trial of Emile Cottin, French anarchist, whose attempted assassination of Premier Clemenceau will probably cost Cottin his life. Cottin (in the prisoner's box) has appealed against the death sentence, which was the unanimous verdict of the court-martial. Press Illustrating
