ONWARD, CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS

The T.F.F. still pensomnate overlooking the Rockies of America in a camp on a flat, undulating mesa. For their ground is staked in a sand of flint, and the air is not a breath, but the wind is a breath. The soldiers are seen as a group, marching in formation. The A.E.F. would raise this nation's spirit to new heights.

CHERCHEZ LA TETE BOUGE

"Who anywhere around Mont St. Simon was stopped and asked, "Why are you here?"

THE STARS AND STRIPES: FRANCE, FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1918.

COULD YOU BLAME HIM?

If you're at a loss to know the reason why this French friend or co-worker at the American Embassy in Paris, or in other places, is absent from some of his usual activities, you may blame him for being sick. But it is far more likely that he is absent for some other reason, such as a change of work, a visit to relatives, or other important matters.

ARMY SUNDAY IN FRANCE

If you're in Paris and want to know what the French soldiers are doing on Sunday, you may ask them, but they will probably tell you that they are working, and that they are doing their work in the best possible way. They will probably say that they are trying to do their work as well as they can, and that they are trying to do it in the best way possible.

THE MUMP

You must never look at a soldier. If you do, he will become very cross and will say, "Don't look at me! I'm not a monkey!"

SHOP TALK

You must never use the word "shop". If you do, he will become very cross and will say, "Don't use that word! It's not a polite word!
