2.

But quick, from Mischief-land there flew
A little sprite. What did it do
But whisper to my sleepy pet
"Don't let mamma go from me yet!"
Then sat my girl upright in bed,
And shook her tangled, curly head,
"Me no asleep, mamma," cried she,
"So tum an' tis me, one two free!"

3.

"Just one kiss more," I said, and pressed
The dear form close unto my breast,
But multiplying one by ten,
I kissed her o'er and o'er again,
Till, thinking she was satisfied,
Again I left my darling's side,
But, just as I had reached the door,
A roguish voice called: "Jes' one tis more!"

4.

I went again with kisses sweet
Her own dear coaxing lips to meet,
And, while I waited singing low,
To dreamland she at last did go.
Ah, me! when she shall older grow,
Will mother's kisses please her so?
God guide us both till life be o'er.
And I may kiss my girl no more!
