you re-mem-ber me, Jea-nette, Would you re-mem-ber me. I'm you re-mem-ber me, Jea-nette, Would you re-mem-ber me. The go-ing far a-way, Jea-nette, A-cross the sea to roam, But my years they come and go, Jea-nette, And your beauty it will fade, The heart will still be with you When I am far from home. The rose that blooms upon your cheek Will have a pal-er shade. Your sun-shine of your hap-py smile Will al-ways cling to me, Will hair that's in its splen-dor now Will have a silv'-ry hue, But you you re-mem-ber me, Jea-nette, Will you re-mem-ber me.

will be dear to me, Jea-nette, I will re-mem-ber you.
CHORUS
The sun and moon and stars, Jeanette, Around their courses run, . . The flow'rs they bud in Spring-time, And blos-som with the sun, . . But my love it has no sea-sons, It will always loy-al be, . . Will you remem-ber me, Jeanette, Will you re-mem-ber me. . .
