HE DID IT FOR HIS COUNTRY'S SAKE.

MATHEWS & BULGER.

Moderato.

On the bat-tle-field a sol-dier, Once two em-i-grants stood quarreling Once an Eng-lish man came ov-erly-ing at the close of day, Calls a com-rade close-ly to him on a ship bound for New York, *One a Dutchman and the oth-er Un-cle Sam to crit-i-cise, Noth-ing that he saw could e-qual just a few last words to say, Says the dy-ing man *old com-rade, was an I-rish-man from Cork, Each one said that for his coun-try Eng-lands pro-ducts in his eyes, And he boast-ed of his coun-try

I've a wife and chil - dren three. Take this mes - sage to my dar - lings;
 He would brave - ly fight or die. They went at it and the Dutchman Till a Yan - kee man he met. But the way that far - mer guyed him its the last they'll get from me, Tell them that my thoughts were of them quick - ly black - ened Pat - rick's eye, Pat says "you have whipped me square - ly filled his heart with deep re - gret, "On the oth - er side" says Eng - lish till the last and though I die It is for my coun - try's hon - or but my Ger - man friend be - ware When we land in New York Ci - ty

 "I a tur - nip once did raise That my fami - ly and two oth - ers and will meet a - gain on high;" As his com - rade takes the mes - sage I'll get ev - en this I swear;" Two weeks from the time they land - ed could not eat in sev - en days?" That is noth - ing says the Yan - kee just a faint good bye he hears, And the wounded soldier passes far beyond all mortal fears. that poor German met his doom, Pat ar-rest-ed him for keeping o-pen Sunday his sa-loon.

 England with us can't eom-pete, I have seen two big policemen sleeping soundly on one beat.

CHORUS.

Allegro.

He did it for his coun - try's sake All for his coun - try's sake A He did it for his coun - try's sake All for his coun - try's sake His He did it for his coun - try's sake All for his coun - try's sake A man was he most loy - al brave and true, He gave up his threat he did not fail to ear - ry through, It happened Dec - o - lie he nev - er told be - fore he said, And when the Eng - lish home and wife sac - ri - ficed his health and life To fight for the red the white and ra - tion day a club Pat used the neighbors say To dec - o - rate this Dutcheman black and man that night got in - to bed he had a fright The Yan - kee had put lob - sters in his blue, He did it for his coun-try's sake All for his blue, He did it for his coun-try's sake All for his bed, He did it for his coun-try's sake All for his coun-try's sake No more he will hear the bat-tle cry, He coun-try's sake Now on his beat he sleeps without a sigh, Al-coun-try's sake Oh, what are these the Eng-lish-man did cry, "A-fought for it roy-al-ly died for it loy-al-ly A

 -though the Dutch-man was a sight he yelled at Pat with all his might Well
 -meri-can bed-bugs" says the jay "you win" says Eng-lish "but some day We'll crown he will wear bye and bye meet in the sweet bye and bye meet in the sweet bye and bye?"
