3.

Or a very stately matron will get on at a side street,
And remark to some one near her, "In that corner there's a seat."
Or a woman with a baby will do all that she can do
To draw from you loudest praises, while it wipes its feet on you.
CHORUS.

Or a lovely elder maiden clutching at a hanging strap,
Is somehow precip'tated on your unoffending lap;
Or a (hic) fellow razzle-dazzle, will get (hic) on to the same car
And insist (hic) that you shall listen to a (hic) member of the bar.
CHORUS.

So that you will dream of future, hoping for some kind of car
With compartments that are private, place to smoke a good cigar,
Rack, to hold your paper handy, place to put your feet upon,
But you bet you'll never get it till your work on earth is done.
CHORUS.
