can I seek a name unknown? Oh, tell me where he went! What is night I met him on the train—A man with love-ly eyes; And he dear-est man you ev-er saw—How much I love him now! And if boy! bring me the "Morn-ing Call!" Per-chance I'll find his name; At the this I read! why, Pa's pa's bank Is robb'd of ev'ry cent! The gave me such a search-ing glance Of sweet-ly-charm'd sur-prise! I I should live a thou-sand years, No oth-er hears my vow. Like "Grand Ho-tel" he must have stopp'd. I won-der when he came! He thief, it seems, left town last night, Well, well! I'm nice-ly sold! He had knew 'twas he the la-dy meant, Who once my for-tune told, By his Ju-das no, like Ju-pi-ter, He look'd so brave and bold, With his must have charm'd those Lump-kin girls, So haugh-ty, proud and cold, By his jet black eyes, a grand moustache. And a buckskin bag of gold.
