Moderato.

1. Have you heard the joy-ful tid - ings Now go - ing thro' the land,
2. Nev - er more shall shy-locks plun - der The til - lers of the soil,
3. Do not tell us that pro - tect - ion The la - bor - er will save,

How the toil-ers of the Na - tion Have made a gal - lant stand,
 And no more to greed we'll ren - der The fruits of hon - est toil.
 When to wealth we give the boun - ty While la - bor's held a slave.

And with Bry-an for their lead - er, And Sewall, too of Maine,
Law that's made for mon - ey loan - er And courts that fa - vor might
Let the wealthy share the bur - den, And not their tax - es shirk,

They'll up-hold the cause of sil - ver And la - bor's rights main tain.
Can - not live with - in a na - tion Where men up-hold the right.
While they take from hon - est work - men The pro - ducts of their work.

CHORUS.

Oh! the toil - ers they are com - - - ing,

QUARTETTE OR PIANO.

Oh! the toil - ers they are com - ing, Yes, the toil - ers they are

Com - ing sire and son,
com - ing sire and son, Com - ing sire and son,

Don't you hear them shout-ing; "We'll have six - teen to one?"
Don't you hear them shout-ing; "We'll have six - teen to one?"

4.

They are coming from the valleys,
And coming from the hills,
They are coming from their ploughshares,
And coming from the mills.
They are coming from the workshop
And coming from the mine,
They are coming, they are shouting,
And forming into line.

Chorus.

5.

Yes, the toilers of the nation
Are coming in their might,
They are coming, they are coming
To battle for the right,
And from Maine to California
True toilers, every one,
Will uphold the cause of silver
Till victory is won.

Chorus.
