moth-er; The fam-i-ly is ve-ry small There's on-ly one young ques-tion; In comes that wick-ed lit-tle boy And of-fers some sug-lin-gers; He pulls me by the col-lar With his lit-tle taf-fy i-sa; But I have had no chance at all Not ev'n to hug or broth-er. I of-ten call to have a chat, And pass an hour or ges-tion. I bribe him up with su-gar plums, And try to make him fin-gers. Some-times I'd like to warm him But Lou-i-sa whis-pers squeeze her I might have done much bet-ter But a fel-low has no so, But I am al-ways bored to death With "lit-tle broth-er Joe." go, But nothing seems to take ef-fect On "lit-tle broth-er Joe."
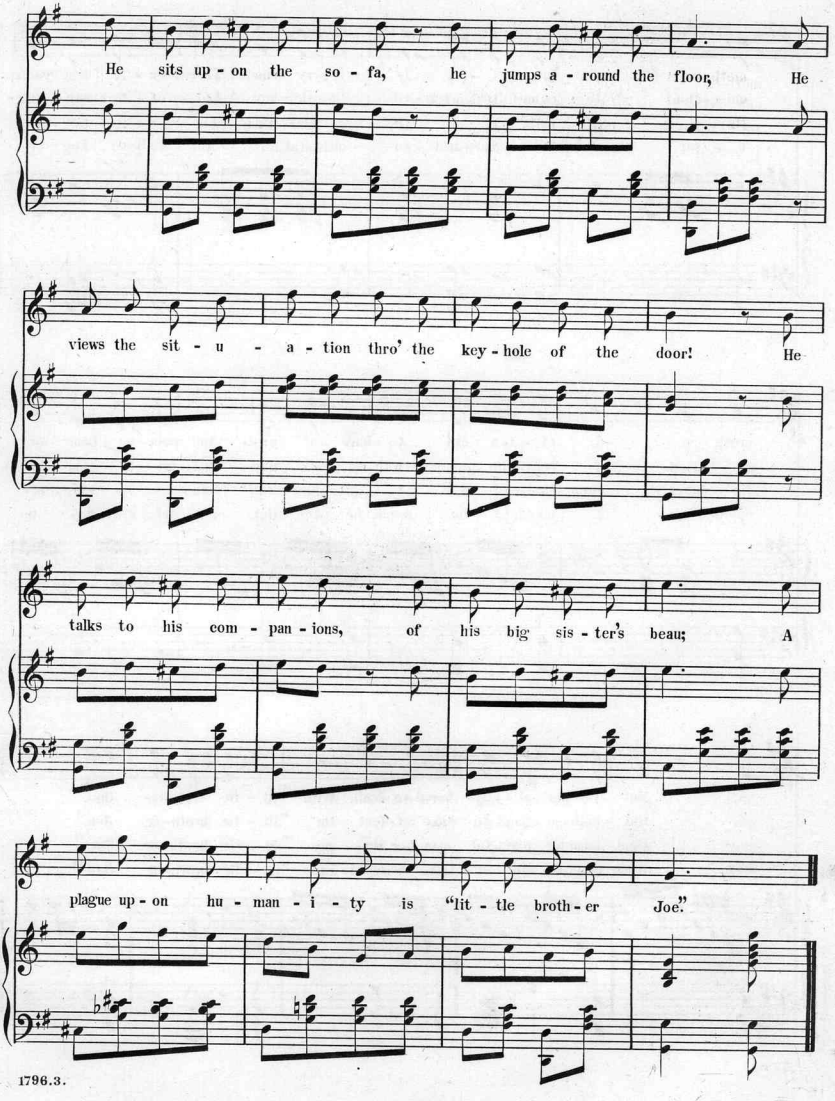
no- Don't mind his play-ful man-ner He's my "lit-tle broth-er Joe."
show When peo-ple will in-trude themselves Like "lit-tle broth-er Joe."



He sits up - on the so - fa, he jumps a - round the floor; He views the sit - u - a - tion thro' the key - hole of the door! He talks to his com - pan - ions, of his big sis - ter's beau; A plague up - on hu - man - i - ty is "lit - tle broth - er Joe."
