Dear Danny:

As the song the children sang when you arrived at North Star Mall put it, in San Antonio "we'll just never be the same again." Your visit on Monday night left this city and this state not only more understanding and friendly to UNICEF, but also kinder, warmer and more loving than they have ever been. With that special quality you have of making each person feel you are talking just to him, you truly reached the hearts of the thousands who came to greet you out of affection and admiration!

Those of us who were privileged to spend the evening with you will always remember October 24, 1966, as a great occasion in our lives. Since you said you would return to San Antonio, we shall look forward to seeing you again. Please feel that you have friends here now in the Jacobsons and others who would welcome you with joy at any time.

Thank you again and again for all you have done for UNICEF and its millions of children, for Texas and its thousands of children, and for all of us!

David joins me in warm greetings, and I know that Governor Connally, Judge Cassel and all those who met you would want me to add their personal greetings and appreciation.

Cordially,

Mrs. David Jacobson
