LOUIS ARMSTRONG, CATERINA VALENTE ARE GUESTS IN SALUTE TO 53 YEARS OF "SATCHMO'S" JAZZ ARTISTRY ON "THE DANNY KAYE SHOW" NOV. 16

Louis (Satchmo)Armstrong and Caterina Valente join Danny Kaye in a musical salute to Armstrong's 53 years as a jazz star on "The Danny Kaye Show" in color Wednesday, Nov. 16 (10:00-11:00 PM, PST), on the CBS Television Network.

In the program's climax, Armstrong and his trumpet join Kaye, Caterina Valente, the Earl Brown Singers, Paul Weston and the orchestra in a medley honoring Armstrong, whose career as a jazz artist began in New Orleans 53 years ago.

Their numbers, all associated with Armstrong, include "Ja-Da,"
"Rockin' Chair," "Do You Know What It Means to Miss New Orleans," "Basin Street Blues," "When You're Smiling," "When It's Sleepy Time Down South,"
"Tin Roof Blues," "Jeepers Creepers," "Mack the Knife" and "Hello, Dolly."

Earlier, in comedy pantomime, Kaye portrays a new waiter in a restaurant whose manner of serving plays havoc with customers but insures the waiter a tasty meal. Harvey Korman plays the proprietor.

Later Kaye portrays a French schoolteacher who lectures children on great moments in American history. His subject this time:
Paul Revere's midnight ride.

Louis Armstrong and his band are starred in the numbers
"Blueberry Hill" and "C'est Si Bon."

Caterina Valente sings "A Door Will Open" and "I'll Remember April," and the Tony Charmoli Dancers are featured in "The Shadow of Your Smile."
