3 Across our land from sea to sea,
The winds proclaim man's liberty,
The mountains catch their mighty voice,
The valleys with the hills rejoice.
All nature sings a paean of praise,
To Him who orders human ways,
And every soul on earth shall sing
The praises of our God and King.

4 God of our fathers, by Thy name,
We vow to keep our land from shame.
We raise our sacred flag on high,
The stars below to face the sky,
And where it floats o'er land or main,
Let all men know it's free from stain,
And all rejoice from sea to sea,
This flag floats only o'er the free.
