There's a na - tion o'er the sea, fight - ing now for Lib - er - ty, Who In the days of long a - go, when our bat - tle brunt you bore, You Now well help you in your fight, for we know your cause is right, In helped us years a - go when we were small, — She has called on us for aid, And the helped us then and did your might and all, — Now we'll prove that we are true, And our sow - ing Free-dom's seed, we shall not fall, — So our sons to you we send, There to debt shall now be paid, We are com - ing, no - ble France we heard your call. — help ex - tend to you, For De - moc - ra - cy and France we heard your call. — stay un - til the end, We are com - ing, no - ble France we heard your call. —

Chorus.

Our he-roes now to you we send, No-ble sons of no-ble men, Just the same as those you sent us years a-go, — And they'll fight on land and sea, side by side for Lib-er-ty, As no-bly as their fathers did be-fore, — For we know our boys of old, Their nerves of steel, and hearts of gold, And no oth-er land can boast of sons so true, — When Old Glo-ry floats on high, They are not a-fraid to die, In the shad-ow of the Red, the White, and Blue. Our he-roes Blue.
