Mol-lie was aw-ful fond of John-ny,
Mol-lie was al-ways sit-ting, knit-ting,

He was her stead-y beau. But John got draft-ed, sud-den-ly had to go.—
Spent all her time a-lone.— The Butch-er called her one night on the tel-e- phone.—

Mol-lie could have a mil-lion fel-lows, Boys all loved her so.— When-ev-er they call she tells them, "I want you all to know." I have-n't got time for an-y-one else, Till John gets home,— Till rid-ing I'm not keen.

John gets home, — My John gets home. — As long 'as he's in France, — There ain't a sin- gle chance, — For Mol- lie to think of tak- ing a drink, Or go- ing out to dance. — I don't want to be on an- y-one's knee, Till John gets home. — Al- though it's kind of tough to be a
