Allegretto Moderato

mf

The blood-y strife is o - ver The war is fought and won — It The re - call has been sound - ed The boys are com - ing home, — They're The grand old flag with its stars and bars Has been borne a - cross the seas, — Un-

took the sturd-y Yan - kee lads to show them how 'tis done. — Out-com - ing back a - gain a - cross The o - cean's track - less foam. — Their sul - lied in the fields of France It has float - ed on the breeze. — Un-fought, out - matched, out - gen - er - aled The Hun he stands at bay, — He's Yan - kee pluck they took with them, But their hearts they left them here. — In the sul - lied may it e'er re - main, As the day when Wash - ing - ton, — De-just found out some-bod-y else His lit-tle game could play; — keep-ing of some-bod-y else Wholl'al-ways hold them dear. — fend-ed its folds for some-bod-y else In the field at Lex-ington.

CHORUS

And that some-bod-y else — Is: your Un-cle Sam With an air de-bon-air you can take me as I am, I'm as peace-ful as can be. — If you don't both-er me. — But then if you do, young man, — You will find you've picked a hub-ble, That may cause you lots of troub-le, For Im an i-de-al A-mer-i-can.
