A. J. Showalter, J. D. Patton, T. B. Mosley, H. M. Eagle, B. B. Beall K. C. Robinson, J. R. Baxter, Jr., J. P. Denton and W. T. Taylor

with our usual long list of associate authors and special contributors, among whom are such well known names as Jno. O. Beall, Wm. M. Golden, H. C. Whitener, R. Edwin Perry, W. S. Tidwell, J. W. Askew, G. B. Williams and many others but little less prominent than these.

Special features of this great new book are more than the usual number of the best new pieces ever written by the editor-in-chief and a goodly number of the best previously published pieces by Mr. S. W. Beazley—undoubtedly the best pieces this original and prolific composer has ever written. These and the many new pieces by the entire editorial staff, as well as those by the associate authors and special contributors, make what we think the best book we have ever published, and the best of all the 1918 books. 65,000 copies demanded of the printers in four months.

REVIVAL PRAISE is printed in both round and shape note editions, and bound in special limp at 30 cents a copy, or $3.50 a dozen, and in embossed boards at 35 cents a copy, or $4.00 a dozen, postpaid.
