

PICARDY

A Martial Hymn, commemorating the Battle of Picardy, in which the United States of America, England and France joined arms for the first time in history, against a common foe.

Lyric by John A. Shoemaker

—
Music by
Dacia Custer-Shoemaker

Revised Edition Copyright, MCMXVIII, by JOHN A. SHOEMAKER

M1646
.5

DEDICATED

TO

The Chasseurs des Alpains (Blue Devils) of France, in whose honor the first rendition was given by the Pittsburgh Male Chorus, under direction of the late James Stephen Martin, at Exposition Music Hall, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, June 7th 1918.

PICARDY.

Words by

JOHN A. SHOEMAKER.

Music by

DACIA CUSTER-SHOEMAKER.

MAESTOSO.

Rit.

NOTE.—The "Assembly" sounded by a bugler may be substituted, at will, for the above introduction.

Slowly, with dignity

1. Sing, all ye sons of Free - dom, Of glo - rious ban - ners three,.....
2. Co - lum - bia's stars are gleam - ing Where Brit - ish stand - ards wave,.....
3. Wave, where God leads, for - ev - er, O'er land and foam - ing sea,.....

Way - ing in stern de - si - ance 'Gainst the foe in Pi - car - dy. For the
And flags of France are stream - ing O'er her He - roes and our Brave. For the Con - joined in right en - deav - or, As to - day in Pi - car - dy. And the Con Sentiments.

Li - on and the Li - ly with Old Glo - ry float - ing free Are Li - on and the Li - ly with Old Glo - ry float - ing free Watch Li - on and the Li - ly with Old Glo - ry float - ing free Shall com - rades now in bat - tie on the plains of Pi - car - dy. Are o'er our sons and broth - ers on the plains of Pi - car - dy. Watch bear im - mor - tal plaud - its from the plains of Pi - car - dy. Shall

rit. ad lib......

com - rades now in bat - tie on the plains of Pi - car - dy.
o'er our sons and broth - ers on the plains of Pi - car - dy.
bear im - mor - tal plaud - its from the plains of Pi - car - dy.

435359