

GOD BLESS OUR WOMEN

Tune,—“Battle Hymn of the Republic.”

BY

HORACE C. STANTON

OF

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

(Author of “The Starry Universe the Christian’s
Future Empire,” and “Telepathy of the Celestial World.”)

For sale by

HALL-MACK COMPANY

1018-1020 Arch Street
Philadelphia, Pa.

THE PRESS MAY COPY.

11646

.5

God Bless Our Women.

HORACE C. STANTON.

W. STEFFO.

Allegretto.

1. To Thee, with - in the Mayflower's breast, our Pil - grim Fa - thers prayed. Now
 2. With - in their veins that roy - al blood, so great in van - ished years, Of the
 3. Their fac - es sun - shine to our eyes, their names so sweet to hear, And their
 4. When worn and wound ed on the cot, we thro' the long night toss, They

we would for their daughters all, in - voke Thy heav'nly aid. None tru - er Pur - i - tans and Pa - tri - ots, im - mor - tal Pi - o - neers; With - in their sym - pa - thet - ic fin - gers write the hope - ful let - ters dear; Their loy - al watch with tire - less vig - il, si - lent step, and soothing voice. Like mes - sen - no - bler, love - lier have Thine hands almighty made, Pro - tect, in - spire, and guide.

 souls like val - iant faith, vic - to - rious o - ver fears, Daughters of Lib - er - ty.
 and he - ro - ic hearts fill ours with loft - y cheer. In dark - ness they bring light.
 gers from Thee, in snow - white robe with Crimson Cross, In them the mind of Christ.

REFRAIN.

Lord e - ter - nal, we a - dore Thee, Bless our wo - men, we im - plore Thee.

May they ev - er stand be - fore Thee, Pro - tect, in - spire, and guide.

God Bless Our Women.—Concluded.

- 5 Where'er it be, on land or sea, or 'mid the clouds we roam,
By day and night, through storm and fight, their visions radiant come;
So honored we would die for them, who reign in heart and home.
The romance of our lives.
- 6 Then when, through veil mysterious, to unseen realms they soar,
We're sure for us before the Throne they still petitions pour;
And spirit voices in the soul seem chanting o'er and o'er Great promises of God.
- 7 Like holy altars may their hearts with adoration flame,
Make their inmost meditations perfumed incense to Thy Name;
May their pure and saintly living put all earthliness to shame, Oh God of Plymouth Rock.

---

Price 10 cents each
One Dozen 75 cents
One Hundred $5.00

All postpaid

---

The Starry Universe the Christian's Future Empire

By Horace C. Stanton, D.D., S. T. D.

Svo. 375 Pages. Cloth, net, $1.50; postpaid, $1.59.

Astronomy and Revelation are now seen to warrant a strikingly enlarged conception of our Transcendent Physical Powers and Possibilities in the Heavenly Life.

Inspired Indications that God's Children are to Inherit All His Illimitable Kingdoms, Exploring and Enjoying Them at Will. Paradise not a Prison. A Metropolis, whence we may roam at pleasure. Coming powers of celestial flight, rapid and tireless, in the light of countless suns. Far as the constellations sweep, the saints to find their everlasting heritage.

"This is an extraordinary book. Of all the books we have ever read that peer into the great unknown of the future, this is the most Scriptural, the most rational, and the most interesting. It captivates both head and heart, and increases in interest to the end."—Watchword and Truth, Boston, Mass.

"The author, a well poised evangelical minister of the Presbyterian Church. The views entirely in accord with the simple and central truths of the Gospel."—Herald and Presbyterian, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Intellectually and spiritually fascinating. . . making it a hard book to lay down."—Religious Telescope, Dayton, Ohio.

"That the saints will possess and enjoy the entire creation, is proved by what the Bible teaches."—United Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Telepathy of the Celestial World

(By the Same Author.)

8vo. 500 Pages. Cloth, net, $2.00. Postpaid, $2.12.

Science and Scripture Seen to Indicate that Celestial Beings can Instantaneously and Freely Converse across Distance Indefinitely Great.

Psychic Phenomena Here but Foreshadowings of our Transcendent Faculties Hereafter.

"This is a rare and fascinating production. Such phenomena as telepathy," (i. e., thought-transmission), "clairvoyance," (i. e., mind-reading) . . . "can no more be doubted than wireless telegraphy. Dr. Stanton's argument, which amounts to a demonstration, is that these . . . suggest the method of communication in the heavenly life . . . a method independent of time and space. . . Throughout in full and delightful accord with the standards of the Church."—The Presbyterian, Philadelphia, Pa.

"These wonderful phenomena in which one mind transmits a complicated message to another, perhaps thousands of miles away, or reads a message sent by a friend across a similar distance, are but the rudimentary play of our higher faculties, which will reach their full development in the life to come."—The Public Ledger, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Psychic communications . . . may occur with . . . absolute instantaneousness, though the two persons concerned be separated by the diameter of the globe. . . He holds that this same telepathy . . . of a higher type is used by . . . good angels, by glorified men, and by the Three Persons of the Trinity."—Record of Christian Work, Northfield, Mass.

Since God made all finite intelligences in His own image, how reasonable that our supernal powers should interpret the exactly similar ones in celestial beings; and that the transcendent activities of their minds should foreshadow the future corresponding ones in ours.

"Every one who reads the book carefully and thoughtfully will be surprised at the great mass of evidence collected from the Bible. . . . A new line of thought and investigation. . . No slightest taint of spiritualism, or fanaticism, or any kind of heresy."—Lutheran Quarterly, Gettysburg, Pa.

"It has received very kind treatment from reviewers, and will bear careful study."—Journal and Messenger, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The blessed communion between holy and redeemed spirits is illuminated by these pages."—Augsburg Teacher, Philadelphia, Pa.

"The system, as here set forth, of 'Telepathy in the Celestial Regions,' . . . is ideal, ineffable, divine, the most perfect that even Deity could devise."—Herald, Boston, Mass.

"These books may be said to be the latest pronouncement of devout scholarship upon the doctrine of the future life. — Will be of immense value and great comfort to the soul."—Western Christian Advocate, Cincinnati, O.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY

New York, 158 Fifth Avenue.

Chicago

Toronto London Edinburgh