ON! O, THOU SOUL!

On, on, O thou soul!
Tho' the way be starless and steep;
Onward still through darkness and tempest,
Thro' the dread gloom of the deep.

Soon over the tempest and darkness
Like golden eagles
Exulting in their blue dominion,
Sun and Star shall rise and sweep.

On, on, to thy goal!
Where the hills in glory sleep,
Onward toward the portals of morning:
Upward still out of the deep.

Now after long years of sin and hatred,
After ages of grief and sorrow,
Man doth arise in joy and beauty,
Like the sun in love and light.

On, on, to thy goal!
Where the hills in glory sleep,
Onward toward the portals of morning:
Upward still out of the deep.

Rise, rise, O thou soul!
Thou hast dwelt too long in the night;
God is rising in the heart of mankind,
All the world glows with His light.

FREDERIC MANLEY.

To the People of Every Nation striving for Freedom

ON, O THOU SOUL!
