

DEC 14 1918

THE ENDURING PATRIOTIC SONG OF THE WAR

©C.E.438630

AMERICA — — — — — FOR — — — — — VICTORY!

POEM BY CAROLINE MONTGOMERY RICE
Music - Verdi's Anvil Chorus - adapted

41646
.V
Ask Your Music Dealer or Order from
CAROLINE M. RICE
PUBLISHER
PEORIA, ILL.

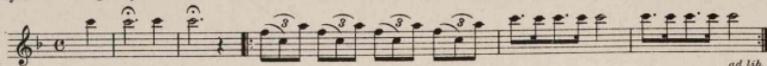

PRICE 25¢ NET
MEDIUM VOICE

Also Published for Band and Orchestra, 25¢ each; and 8va. Edition for Schools and Choruses at 10¢ Net.
(10% Discount for 50; 20% for 100 or more)

AMERICA FOR VICTORY!

Poem by Caroline Montgomery Rice.

Music adapted from Verdi's Anvil Chorus

M.M. = 120

stirringly

Arm, arm, A - mer - i - ca, For pros - trate mill - ions

mf The sound of the workers f The tread of armies, marked marching rhythm in the bass need you. Arm, Sons of Lib - er - ty; The call of na - tions speed you on! Hear the

f f p> >

an - guish - ed cry of men. Mid roar of bat - tle And dy - ing rat - tle They fight for peace a - gain.

rit. a tempo e cresc.

Mark ye the hav - oc where Belgium was ra - vaged; See no - ble France where her ho - roes lie dead; Torn and dis -
 * On, Men in Kha - ki; the Na - tion's be - hind you. The toll - er, the think - er, the ma - tron and maid; Cheer - ing you † An stanza for peace Peace now do - scent - eth en - fold - ing the na - tions, Now com - fort the peo - ple and shat - ter the sword. War - fare is

P Smoothly cresc. dim. p

* This stanza is to be reserved until peace has been declared

Copyright MCMXVIII by Caroline M. Rice

International copyright secured.

All rights reserved

mem-bered poor Rus-sia lies blood-ing: All that the lust of the trait-or he fed, on-ward o'er earth, air, and o-cean. Till hurt-ing you hurl back the foe, un-dis-mayed.
 end-ed and bright shines the morn-ing. Sing and make straight ye the path of the Lord.

Ten mil-lion men re-
 Now, each for all, they Oh, sing to all the cres. mf Triumphantly

ply; A-mer-i-ca, they cry, Is pour-ing furth for vic-to-ry!
 cry; And still for each, re-ply. So firm shall stand our na-tion's tree.
 world That Free-dom's Flag, un-furled, Shall float un-stained o'er land and sea!

With increasing force mf

On, then, A-mer-i-ca; The God of Na-tions speed you, On, Sons of
 On, Men in Kha-ki, then! The hearts of all ca-ress you, On, Sons of Peace reigns, A-mer-i-ca; The God of Heav'n hath spo-ken! Sing, Sons of f With marked marching accent in bass

Lib-er-ty; The Flag of Free-dom lead you, on! Right shall have the vic-to-ry. God save the Lib-er-ty; The God of Bat-tles bless you. Now God shall grant the vic-to-ry! God bless the Lib-er-ty; The ty-rant's might is brok-en! Now Right hath won the vic-to-ry! Re-joice, ye

f rit. a tempo et

peo-ple; God save the peo-ple; A-mer-i-ca, the Free!
 peo-ple; God bless the peo-ple; A-mer-i-ca, the Free!
 peo-ple; Give thanks, ye peo-ple; For all the world is Free!

cres. Free! Free! Free!

AMERICA FOR VICTORY!

"A thrilling solo, a stirring patriotic chorus"

"It gives America's whole war situation."

"The embodiment of the ideals and sentiments of to-day."

"It gives voice to the spirit of democracy and might be entitled 'Democracy Triumphant'— a beautiful patriotic song for America should be introduced everywhere."

"Words and music are admirably suited, supplementing and developing each other. This music (The Anvil Chorus) has always been popular and as adapted to modern use is destined to be more so throughout America."

"The stanza for peace is a beautiful addition to and will add to the life of the song."

"America for Victory is bound to be one of the enduring songs of the Great War."

Sing also this stanza for the

Battle Hymn of the Republic

BY

Caroline M. Rice

From the havoc and the tumult God shall build the world again,
Till his Peace on earth, Good will to man, shall reach the hearts of men.
While the nations sit together sending up a great Amen,
For God is marching on.

Copyright 1918 by Caroline M. Rice.

Caroline M. Rice

1110 HAMILTON ST.

PEORIA, ILL.