There's a road-way in each quaint old-fashioned vil-lage — That will go down in Can you pic-ture in your mind that old dirt road-way, — When the he-ros come his - to - ry — Its the road-way that the sold-ier boys are trail - ing — On their march-ing home — With the same old crowd all gathered there to greet them, — For their way to the land o'er the sea, — Mothers, wives and sweet hearts, vie - tries far o - ver the foam, — What's that song they're sing - ing,

Tho' a tear 'twill bring, Hear the drum, here they come, hear them sing:
 What's that old re - frain, We re - call one and all, once a - gain.

CHORUS

Down the old dirt road they're tramp - ing, To the land of Some - where far a - way,

— Ev - ry step that they take, There's a heart here will break, But they'll come back to mend them some day, — Wear a smile up - on your fa - ces, — Just to help them lift the heavy load, — And you'll ne - ver for - get how they marched, you can bet, Down the Trail of the Old Dirt Road. — Down the
