"For My Flag And My Country" By J.C.Johnstone.

1

For Freedom, Love and Honor, Old Glory's stars gleam bright;
Our country's voice is calling--yes, calling you and me;
To carry you on bravely and proudly through the fight,
Red, White, and Blue, we love you--our country, 'Tis of thee!
Your Red, the blood our fathers shed, in sacred memory;
Your stripes of White, for what is right, remaining ever so;
Then comes your Blue, love's sacred hue, for sweetest liberty--
We'll march along and sing this song, as happily we go:

CHORUS?

For my Flag and My country, they are more than the world to me;
And for them I am going, to fight for liberty;
For the Red, White, and Blue, each star gleaming true,
My Country 'tis of thee!
I'll fight to the end, naught can make my courage bend,
For my Flag and my Country are all the world to me.

2

Our Country's Flag--Old Glory--we've carried o'er the sea;
Her Banner proudly waving, yes, waving over head;
In honor to our country and Yankee victory,
Red, White, and Blue, 'twas for you,--to day our blood is shed.
For you, each crimson drop is true, our country's liberty;
In God we trust, for right HE must, be with us to the end;
We're all true blue, we'll win for you--while fighting splendidly;
We'll march along and sing this song, and naught can make us bend.
