

NOV 22 1917

R

GERMANY DOODLE

SONG

POEM <sup>and</sup> COPYRIGHT, BY MRS. E. C. MONTROSE, 16 R. St. N.E. WASHINGTON, D. C.
(Pen de Plume "Anonymous")

MUSIC BY

R. A. BARKNE,
790-DANFORTH ST.,
NEW YORK CITY

gtr allegro

gtr

b

dr

"Germany Doodle" anonymous.

From Pacific to Atlantic there's arow that's most gigantic
 Says his right to rule the people is divine;
 But his method is the Devil's, and in tears and blood he reveals,
 And that rule his people surely will decline.

CHORUS.

So take the bumptious noodle, to the tune of "Germany Noodle"
 And put him in a castle on the Rhine;
 Tho deprived of mighty boodle, with the Crown Prince and his pooble
 He can ponder on the question of "divinc".

2

From Atlantic to Pacific, waging war that is terrific,
 Just to deal the Nations--all--a deadly blow;
 But his brain is surely flighty, when he thinks he's God Almighty--
 With Heaven, Earth and Nations all in tow.

420a-8

