"The Great Red, White, and Blue" By Fred. Klein.

A soldier boy, so brave and grand won great fame once for showing his prowess;
At fighting he would make a stand; and always he would be a grand success;
And when the battle it was done, in every eye he was a hero true;
He was a Captain of the great, the one and only old Red, White, and Blue.

CHORUS.

The great Red, White, and Blue, is the Flag that never so true; true;
It will wave O'er your grave if you help to save your country so great and
Tis the great Red, White, and Blue; flies for me and flies for you;
And you'll never find a flag of its kind, as the great Red, White, and Blue.

2

The Captain's fought his last, last fight;
And sleeps beneath the sod well known to fame;
In his saddle I see him now,
An ever never will forget his name;
Bastified he is, I know--by showing himself a heror good and true;
And O'er his grave there wa as a Flag--the one and only, old Red, White, and Blue.
