"Our Sons Across The Sea" By Paul Wilson,

Away across the ocean,ther's a son of Uncle Sam;
Who's helping make new history with cannon,shell,and ram;
Both day and night he labors,in the sunshine and the rain;
But when his time for rest comes 'round,he'll sing this old refrain:

CHORUS.

"There's a sweet little girl on American soil in our home land across the sea;
And she has a great "rep",for distributing"pep",she's the heart and soul of me;
I can see her in dreams,and you know what that means--I can hear her say:"good bye
I'll be happier then,when I'm with her again..'neath a peaceful and cloudless sky

2

Away off in a foreign land,a young lad strong and true;
He carries forth our native flag..the great Red,White,and Blue;
In Europe he is stationed,perhaps somewhat out in France;
But his heart and his thoughts are here when he sings as in a trance:
