"Ready When Uncle Sam Gives Us A Call" By Henry Farcy.

We're ready when Uncle Sam gives us a call;
Together we'll stand and together we'll fall;
Our Flag must wave ever, so grand and so free;
In peace o'er the land, and in peace o'er the sea;
We do not seek Glory, no, that is quite plain,
But ways our Liberty we will maintain;
The Liberty that we so bravely have wrought;
Twas taken from foemen that Our Fathers fought.

CHORUS.

We're ever stand together, with united hearts;
Hands in hands, shoulders to shoulders, we will all do our parts;
Should I for thee fall I know you will remember me;
A son, who at your call gave his life for thee.

2

We'll follow Old Glory, and stand ready, we
For Justice, and Truth, and for Humanity;
Whatever, wherever, no matter the cost;
Our Liberty--precious--shall never be lost;
Our Fathers, their glorious deeds still must live;
And I--just like them--have a life that I'll give;
Let all of our Nation for this Cause Unite;
That all Europe's wrongs we may, shortly, make right.
