"There's No Place Like Home, Sweet Home!" Henry R. Kelsey.

1

He answered to the Call, and joined the Army;
 He heard his Country calling, ev'rywhere;
 And to those of his pals who were in prison,
 Said they'd be happy when Peace was declared!

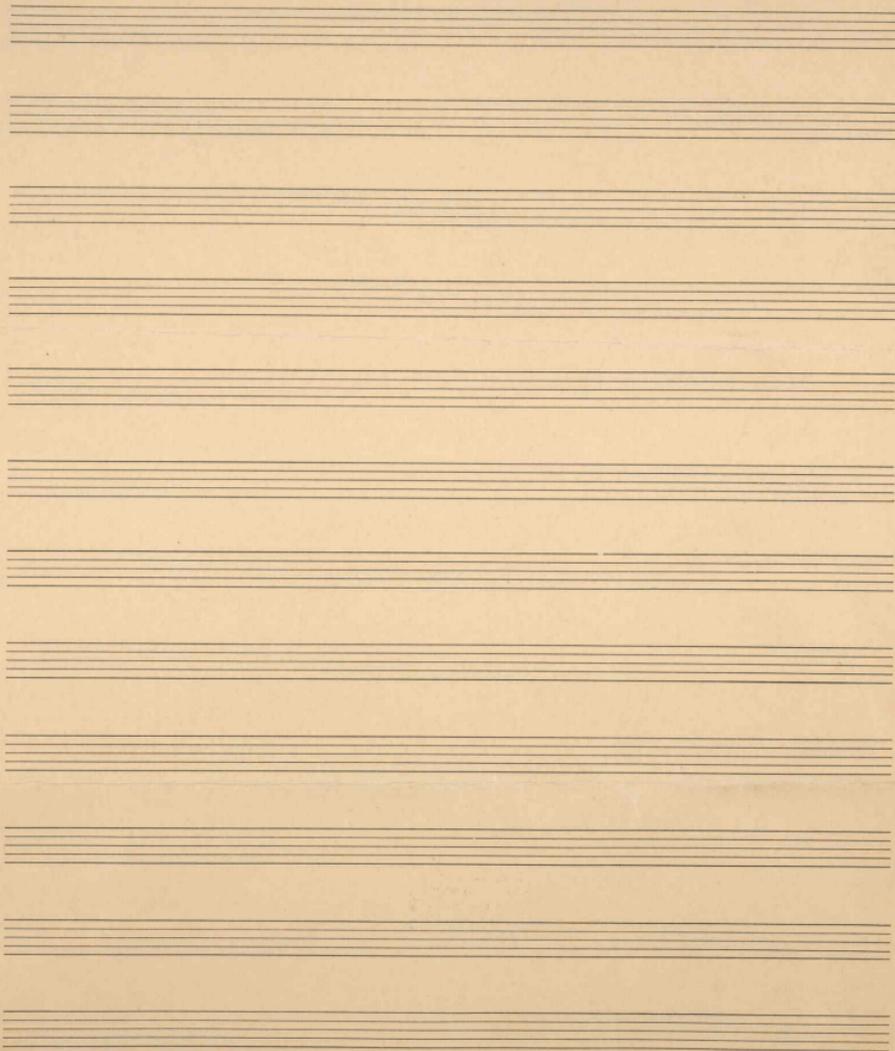

CHORUS.

For there's no place like Home, sweet home,
 No matter where you roam;
 When the War is o'er at last, and the danger it is past;
 There is no place like Home, Sweet Home!

2

He grabbed a gun and did his share of fighting,
 Then, to a waiting mother, o'er the foam;
 He came a-marching home, a Yankee hero—
 Once more he's back again at Home, sweet Home!
