country has mill-ions of chil- dren, And oth- ers have found here a home. But our laugh at the Eng-lish-man's 'and spiko, The I- rish-man's brogue makes you smile. 7 The all at war with the Kai- ser, The I- rish-man, Yan- kee and Jew. 7 All take the pang out of hun- ger, We'll put a new mean ing in war. 7 For blood it is blue and our hearts are all true, Though our lan- guage is strange-ly and sure-ly our own. I Scotchman's rough burr and the Yan- kee's thin twang, No pur- list in lan- guage would use by a mile. Caov- er the land side by side we now stand, Lined up neath the folds of the Red, White and Blue. For our pil- la- ges P we will use a big T But we'll sound ev- 'ry let- ter in Stripe and in Star. We'll may or may not mix my his, You may speak thru your nose if you please, We may na- di- an French- sùre is fun- ny, His Eng-lish is fun- ni- er yet, But this hearts are all throbbing to geth- er, And to- geth- er we'll stand or we'll fall 7 'Till fight for the right then to geth- er, And we'll keep up the bat- tle un- til 7 We've break ev-'ry rule of lit-'ra-ture's school And cut out our Rs and our D's. But we're ba-ble of sound will ring the world round, And Will-iam will hear it "you bet." For we're li-ber-ty's light sends its beams thru the night That now threat-ens the world with its pall. For we're wiped the K out of "Kul-tur" Hoo-ray! And we've knock'd all the war out of Bill. For we're

Tempo di Marcia

all true A-mer-i-cans, Just pass the word a-long, We're all true Amer-i-cans, And we come ten mill-ion strong. We're all true A-mer-i-cans As we march with a biff, bim, bam. For ev-'ry one has shoulder'd his gun And will fight for Un-cle Sam. Sam.
