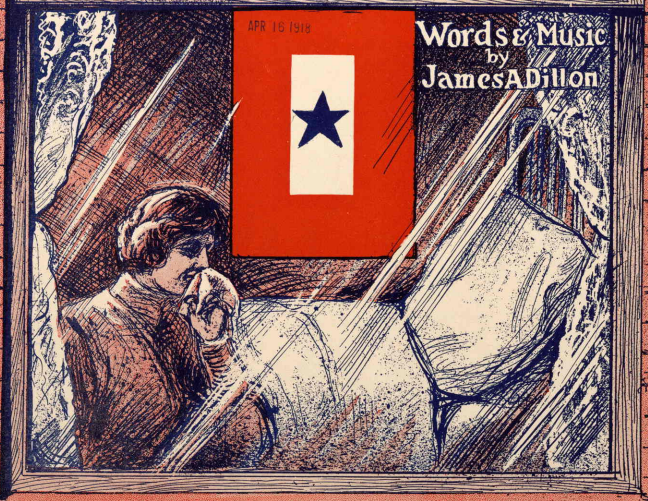
THERE'S A SERVICE FLAG IN THE WINDOW



Words & Music
by
James A Dillon

DILLON, Publisher, 1431 Broadway New York

©CLE419713
APR 16 1918

There's A Service Flag In The Window.

Words and Music by JAMES A. DILLON.

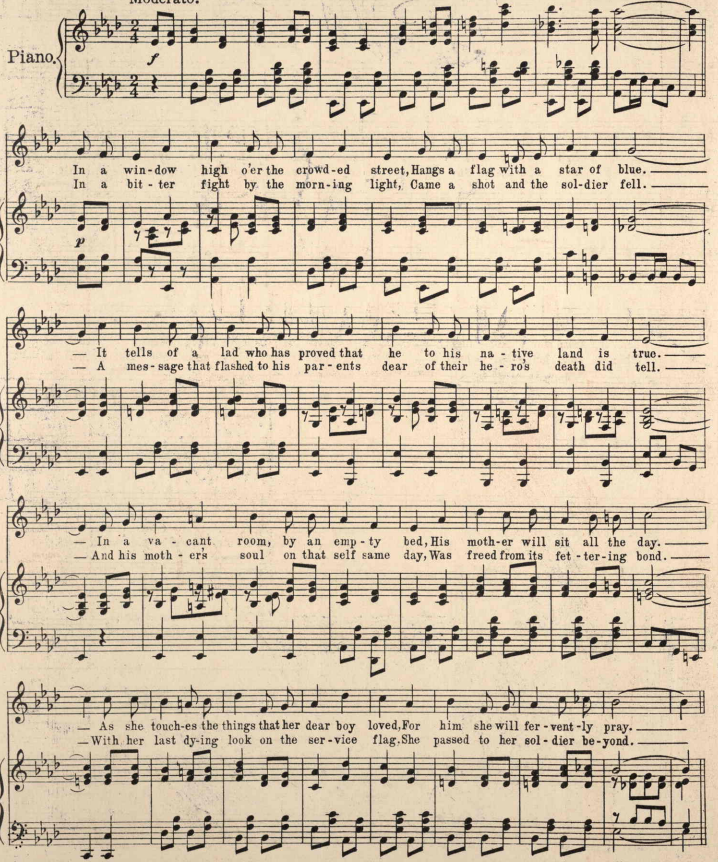
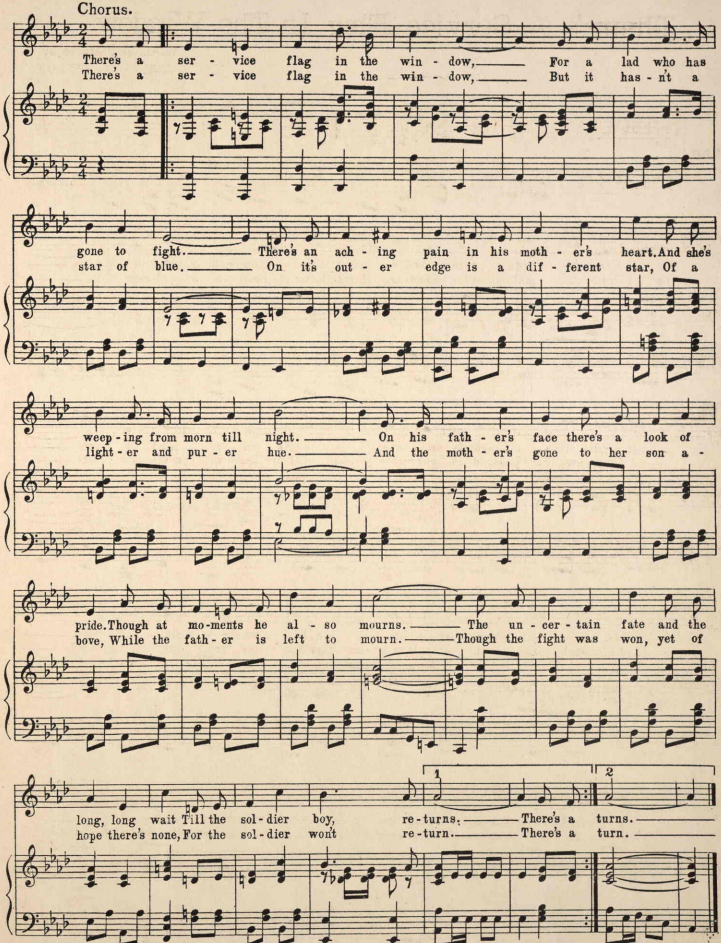
Moderato.



2 Copyright MCMXVIII by James A. Dillon, 1431 Broadway, N.Y.



Chorus.
There's a ser - vice flag in the win - dow, For a lad who has There's a ser - vice flag in the win - dow, But it has - n't a gone to fight. There's an ach - ing pain in his moth - er's heart. And she's star of blue. On it's out - er edge is a dif - ferent star, Of a weep - ing from morn till night. On his fath - er's face there's a look of light - er and pur - er hue. And the moth - er's gone to her son a - pride. Though at mo - ments he al - so mourns. The un - cer - tain fate and the bove, While the fath - er is left to mourn. Though the fight was won, yet of long, long wait Till the sol - dier boy, re - turns. There's a turns.
1
2
hope there's none, For the sol - dier wont re - turn. There's a turn.