DEC -9 1918 ©CLE438590

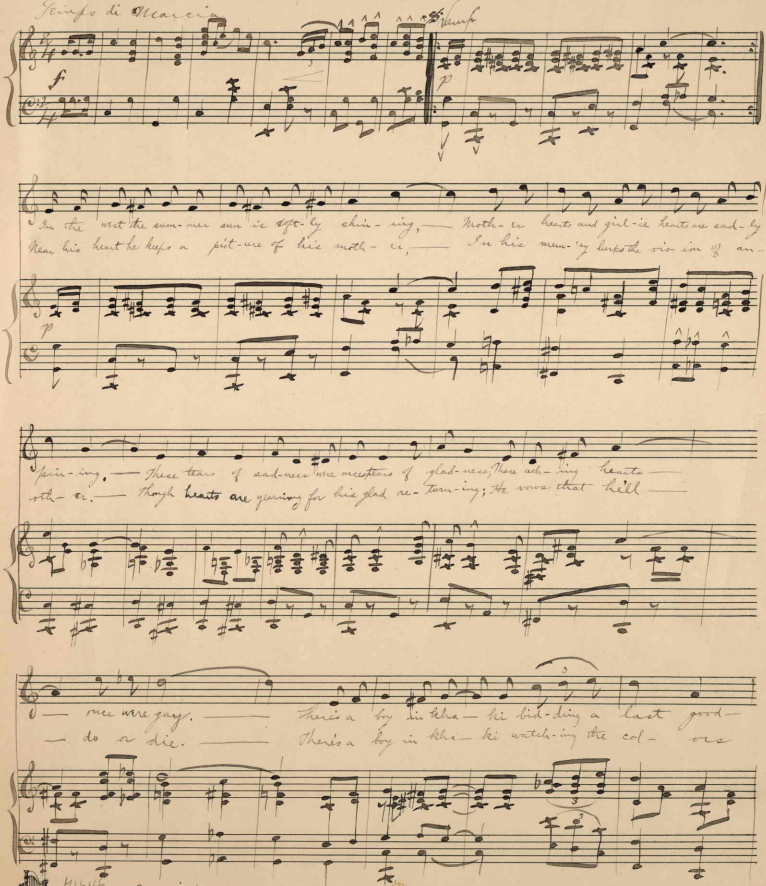
Words by Wm. F. Freeman Jr.

Music by LUTHER A. CLARK.

"Somewhere In France."

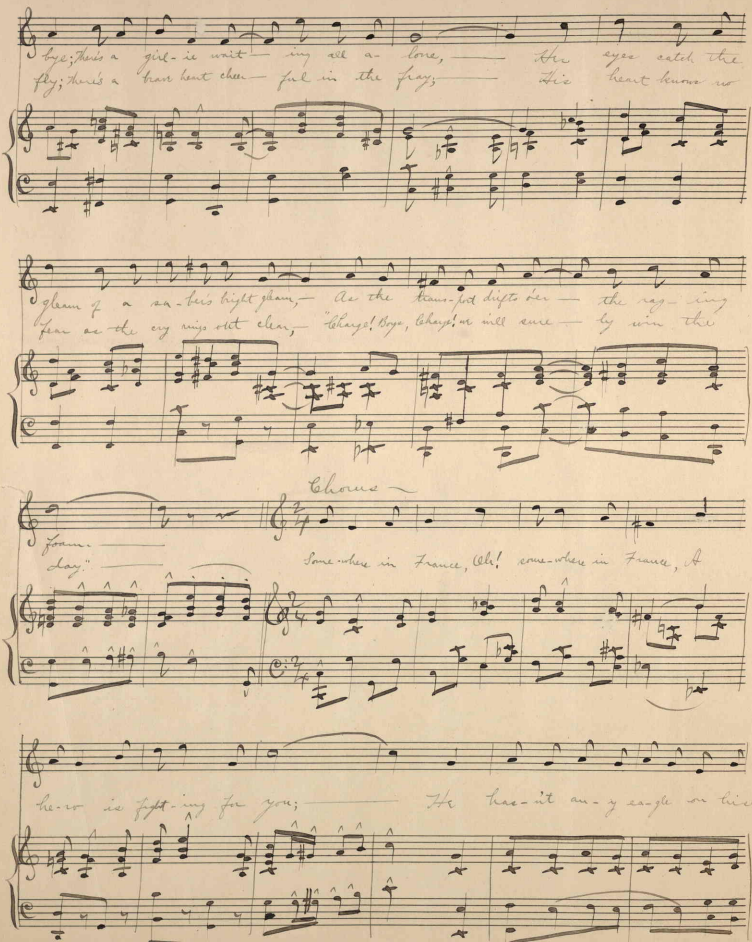
(Where We Fighting For You.)

Tempo di Marcia



H1646

Copyright, 1918 by Wm. F. Freeman, Box 161, Middleton, Mass.



bye; there's a girl-ie wait- ing all a- lone, ——— Her eyes catch the fly; there's a true heart chum- full in the fray, ——— Her heart knows no gleam of a sun-beis bright glam,— As the train-bot dips o'er — the ray- ing fear as the cry rings out clear, "Chang! Bye, Chang!" we will sure — ly win the Chorus —
Some-where in France, Oh! some-where in France, A day." ——— he-ro is fight-ing for you; ——— He has-n't an- y eagle on his shoul - der; But his heart beats stur-dy and true. There's a lit-tle boy's pict- ure in each mech-a-nic's heart, Who has vowed to dare and do, Some-where in France facing ri-fle and lance, For the old, Red, 2.

D.S.
White and Blue.
Blue.
D.S.

445103