Here's A Stitch!

I.

My thoughts are like the circling gulls
That followed your ship away;
My flying fingers can not rest
From work for you by day;
For every soldier's lass should be
Busy, brave and gay.

Chorus.

Here's a stitch for health,
And a stitch for wealth,
And twenty more for joy,
When across the sea you come back to me,
My Own, my Soldier Boy!
When across the sea you come back to me,
My Own, my Soldier Boy!

II.

Your helmet flaunts no eagle's plume
As token of bravery;
The sox I knit beside the fire,
No sev'n league boots shall be,—
And yet, I vow they'll bear you on,
Out to Victory!

Chorus.

III.

My stitches are good soldiers, all,
Into your service thrown;
And every stitch shall be a wish
That weary hours be flown,
'till hands that labor now for love
Clasp the hero's own.

Chorus.
