A MAIDEN'S EVENING PRAYER.

Kathleen M. Murphy.

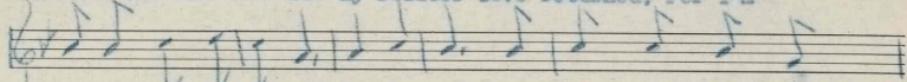

M. DuFresne.

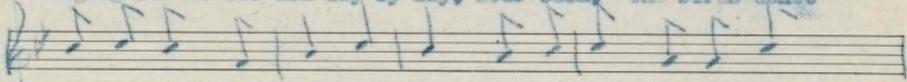

A maiden's heart is pining for her boy who sailed away, Oh,

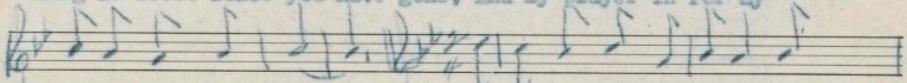

if the war was over and my soldier love returned; For I'm longing for to see him day by day, Dear Jack, the birds don't sing so sweet since you have gone, And my prayer is for my soldier boy's re - turn. (CHORUS) He is my soldier hero, he sailed across the foam, Fighting for his country and the loved ones here at home; May the angels guide your footsteps while you fight for the Red, White and Blue, And when my soldier boy returns, I know he will be true.

You must not forget that promise you made to me that day,

To me its been a sense of loving bliss along the way;

When you told me life's sweet story and my answer

was a kiss;

If by chance you fall in battle when we meet there'll

be no pain,

But my prayer is for my hero's safe return.
