

©G.L.E.427863

JUL 31 1918

THE NEW

"DIXIE"

U.S.A. FOREVER

Words by
Edmund Vance Cooke
Set to
Dan Emmett's Immortal "Dixie"

Price 15 cents

Sam Fox  Pub. Co.
Cleveland

EUROPEAN REPRESENTATIVES, BOSWORTH & CO. LONDON

M1646
E

"THE NEW DIXIE"
U. S. A. Forever

Words by
EDMUND VANCE COOKE
Author of "For The Freedom of The World"

Music by DAN EMMETT

I'm glad I live in the land I live in, Best to get and I love this land of milk and hon - ey, Land on which I'll Here Lat - in, Celt and Slav and Sax - on Look like Lin - coln, For if some folks, with a foe's ef - front - ry Rough the fur of best to give in; Hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! U. S.

lay my mon - ey, Hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! U. S.
Clay and Jackson, Hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! U. S.
this, our coun - try, Hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! hip hoo - ray! U. S.

A. Old Un - cle Sam's my best re - la - tion; Makes me feel I
A. From East - ern Sea to West - ern O - cean, This land seems to
A. And we're for peace all 'round the com - pass Till we're forced to
A. We'll take our sev - 'ral swords and tune 'em Till they sing E own this nation! Hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! U. S. A.

 suit my no-tion! Hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! U. S. A.
 raise a rum-pus! Hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! U. S. A.
 plu-ri-bus un-um! Hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! hip hoo-ray! U. S. A.

REFRAIN

So it's U. S. A. for - ev - er! hoo - ray! hoo - ray! I thank the fates which fixed my dates In U. S. A. for - ev - er! Hoo - ray! I say! old U. S. A. for - ev - er! I say! hoo - ray! the Glo - ri - ous States for - ev - er!

We believe that "Dixie" is the real national air of America. Its popularity is universal and it has hardly a rival in its ability to stir the enthusiasm of the people, high and low. This is true of the music of "Dixie" and unbounded credit is due to Daniel Decatur Emmett, who gave his country such a stirring and thoroughly American air.

Unfortunately, Dan Emmet was far from being a poet and in the hasty composition of "Dixie", he fitted words to it, which practically nobody sings.

If "Dixie" is worthy of being a national song, it is worthy of national words. To this end, Edmund Vance Cooke has written words which are adapted to every section of the country. He has purposely made them simple and colloquial, in keeping with the "Dixie" music and the "Dixie" spirit, but has endeavored to make them not unworthy the attention of anyone who believes in American motives and American music.

We submit the song "U. S. A. Forever" fitted to the "Dixie" music to American schools, choral societies and to the American people generally.

SAM FOX PUBLISHING CO.