Dear God - dess of Lib - er - ty, stand - ing in splen - dor At the
 And when all ob - scured by the mists of dis - tance, There we gate - way of home, look - ing out on the sea; Re - turn - ing, we saw thy tall fig - ure fade in - to the west; We knew we must greet thee with hearts fond and ten - der, With tear mois - tened eyes, we pay meet a foe's stub - born re - sis - tance, To save for the world what is hom - age to thee; For thou art the sym - bol for which we have dear - est and best; The God - giv - en Lib - er - ty for which you fought, And Lib - er - ty's life he - roe's blood no - bly bought.

 stand, The e - ter - nal hope of our dear na - tive land.

CHORUS
 Oh, Lib - er - ty, sym bol - of Jus - tice and Right! Men see from a - far thy clear bea - con light! Where Co - lum - bla's sons her ea - gle have taken Or the star - ry folds of Old Glo - ry un - furled; Still stand thou for - ev - er, for cen - tu - ries un - shak - en, Oh, Lib - er - ty, light - ing the world!
