This grand Old Glory which we love so dear,
She is our nation's emblem we greet with a cheer,
And though we will defend her, our friends need never fear,
If they do not undertake to down Old Glory.

4

Our nation's honor, it is tried and true:
To treat all others kindly is the thing we aim to do;
But if they once insult us, they very soon will rue,
That they ever dared to trample on Old Glory.
