is the bat - tle cry, Our Pre - si - dent has fought it off and told the rea - son why. He tried to do what's right, we've stood insults of ev' - ry kind, we did not want to fight. You've fore it is to late, You'll find its true we're after you, its then you'll know your fate. We'll says we are a peace - ful lot, with all the world we're friends, but the Kai . ser doesn't want it so by the sunk our vessels one by one, and took our dear ones, too; That's go - ing far e - nough, we think, so we'll send your soldiers marching home, in - stead of off to war. Where they've been fighting in the trench, but dont mes - sage that he sends, "Keep off the sea and stay at home," in have to tend to you. We know you are the "Kai - ser" and you've know what it is for. Call in your arm - ies one by one, now braz - en words he's hurled, "I'm mon - arch of the o - cean and I'm got a rul - ing hand, But we have got a Pres - i - dent, and let them take a rest; I'm sure they'll all be sa - tis - fied, and going to fight the world," He may - be didn't reck - on, when "Old by him we will stand, His name is Mis - ter Wil - son, he is by them you'll be blest. So meet your friend and foe a - like, with a Glo - ry" is un - furled, That he'll be up a - gainst it, when he says he'll fight the world. in the White House chair, You'll find him in the lob - by and you'll find him on the square.

 "Good Cheer" to them lend, Come, tell them that the "Jig is up, the war is at an end.

Chorus

So we're going to hock old Kai - ser Bill, we'll show him a trick thats new, we'll put his sub - ma - rines in soak, we'll can his Zeppe - lin crew; we'll make him pawn his air - co - planes, and when Un - cle Sam gets thru, This whole world will be bet - ter off, and the Kai - ser wi - ser too. So we're Kai - ser wi - ser too.
