Allegretto moderato

VAMP

1. When Ga-briel blows his horn, Bill, and calls you out by name, What
 2. When you look through the gates, Bill, your cra-ven soul will groan, To 3. The "Uh-lans" of per-di-tion, a-wait to be your guide, And will you answer be, Bill? You'll hide your face in shame, When you hand Pete your passport, he'll see your earthly vic-tims, A-round the great White Throne, Their car-nal bod-ies you killed, their see you safe a-cross, Bill, That great un-known di-vide, When you have crossed the Styx, Bill, and scru-ti-nize it well, And in sten-to-rian voice ex-claim "All Huns are booked for hell."

 souls they nev-er die; Their voi-ces ring through Heav-en's realm, Ho-san-na's to most high, reached Ge-han-na's gate, And see the fiends as-sem-bled there, you'll re-al-ize your fate.

CHORUS

They're wait-ing and watch-ing for you, Bill, — Anx-ious the Huns to see, Are the hosts of Heaven and Hell, Bill, In great expec-tan-cy, Since time be-gan or have an end, Again shall an-gels see; Such "Kul tured" brutes in hu-man form, Pass to e-ter-ni-ty. They're ty.

EXTRA VERSES

4. The Imps are in a bad mood, their loud cries rend the air,
 They draw the line at Huns, Bill, ye cannot enter there,
 When denizens of Hades are one and all agreed,
 To ostracize the fiendish Hun, they must be vile indeed. (Chos.)
5. Says wise old Mr. Satan, "we've had enough of this,
 There's but one place to take them, Inferno's dread abyss,
 And cast them in forever, remorse for company,
 Where they shall sink and sink, and sink, through all eternity." (Chos.)
6. At last they're gone, good-bye Hun, 'tis well the ordeal's o'er,
 So ends the "Hohenzollern" till time shall be no more,
 The wars shall cease, have no fear of Huns brutality,
 There's peace on earth, joy in Heaven, in Hell a jubilee. (Chos.)
