OUR BOYS ACROSS THE FOAM

Far across the briney ocean
There are aching hearts tonight.
Far beyond the rolling billows
Where the camp fires are gleaming bright,
There our soldier boys are telling
Of the ones to them most dear
Some of a loving wife and baby
As they wipe away a scalding tear.

CHORUS:

Some of these will fall in battle
For a righteous cause to save,
Then braid for them a wreath of roses.
And place them on our soldier's grave.

Let us send a word of greeting
To our boys across the foam,
For we know tonight they are thinking
Of dear ones they left at home
We may know the deep affection
Kind friends have for one another
But teach me Sage's words to tell
The fond affection of a mother.

CHORUS:

O. S. Lamberson.
