

MAY -6 1918

A Little Snow-White Cross.

(A MEMORIAL HYMN)

Words by Robert N. Lister.

Music by Mrs. Robert N. Lister.

Moderato with expression.

1. A lit - tle snow-white cross "Some-where in France," Be - hold it and sa - lute with glow - ing pride; With rev-'rence mark the spot, for where it stands A moth-er's and a na-tion's son has died.

- 2 He pressed aside the claims of wife and child,
Of fair ambition, or the love of maid;
mf With patriotic ardor undefiled,
His life was on his country's altar laid.
- 3 He sensed full well the sacrifice he made,
To hardship, toil and loss was he resigned;
f He bared his breast; the Hun's mad rush he stayed,
And died for God, for country, and mankind.
- p* 4 "Somewhere in France" a little snow-white cross,
O Lord and Master of us all, declare
That he, who like thyself gave all for us,
Shall not unhonored lie forgotten there.

Words and music Copyright, 1918, by BESSIE M. LISTER, 30 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass., U. S. A.
International copyright secured.

8 cents per copy; $6.00 per hundred, by mail on receipt of price.

M1646

L

430757